Miceli takes communities' pulse on MCAS, water supply

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON/TEWKSBURY - The Office of Representative James Miceli has released a survey that reveals what a sampling of residents from Wilmington and Tewksbury think about matters pertaining to the MCAS exam, funding for elections, open space and the local water supply.

The results, based on questionnaires filled out by hundreds of residents who attended the most recent Town Meeting in their community, offer an interesting comparison between Wilmington and Tewksbury.

Consider:

- THE MCAS EXAM. For quite some time now, the controversial, state-required MCAS exam has been a lightning rod for criticism because students absolutely have to pass the test before they can be allowed to graduate from high school. It seems, though, that for every person who finds this requirement unfair, there is another individual who feels it is an acceptable criteria to determine who will be getting their sheepskin come June.

In Wilmington, for example, 49% of Town meeting attendants who took Representative Miceli's survey answered that high school graduation should not be contingent upon passing the MCAS exam, while 48% replied that it should. In Tewksbury, the gap was a pinch wider: 53% of the poll-takers gave a thumbs-down to the requirement that students pass the exam in order to graduate, while 44% felt that it was a good idea. In both communities, 3% of those who took the survey were undecided on the issue.

- ELECTIONS AND THE TAX-PAYER. Representative Miceli's questionnaire asked residents if taxpayers' money should be used to fund the elections of such positions as Senator, Representative, Auditor, Attorney General, Treasurer, Secretary of State, Lieutenant Governor and Governor. Wilmington and Tewksbury were united on this issue, overwhelmingly implying in their survey answers that the government should keep its hands out of their wallets when it

Woburn Planning Board discussed

Effect of Inwood Park on Wilmington

By JAMES HAGGERTY

WILMINGTON / WOBURN - The plans for Inwood Office Park, which is going to be built on West Street near the Wilmington line in Woburn, faced few objections when it was presented to the Woburn Planning Board at its May 22 meeting.

The office park, which has been more than a decade in the making, will include five buildings in a campus-style setting off Route 93. The location of the park has been the concern of Wilmington residents for quite some time now, for it would likely increase the flow of traffic that passes through the community, most notably at the intersection of Lowell and West Streets.

At the Woburn Planning Board Meeting, developer Edward Callan and members of his team gave a half-hour presentation about the 850,000 square-foot project.

Attorney Joseph Tarby, who represents Callan, explained to the board that access to Inwood Park will be from Route 93 at Route 129 in Wilmington. Once on Route 129, commuters would turn onto West Street and head back over the highway into Reading in order to access the site.

Planning Board member Edward Pasquarello asked Attorney Tarby if any efforts have or had been made to bring access in from the new interchange at Commerce Way in Woburn, in order to limit the impact of such traffic on Wilmington and Reading. Project representatives replied that several efforts have been made over the years to lift some of the burden on the two communities, but they have all been blunted by opposition from the state.

Once Callan's presentation was complete and questions were answered, the Planning Board

Chestnut Street traffic woes

Selectmen approve sidewalks inquiry

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - At its May 29 meeting, the Board of Selectmen voted against restricting commuter access to Chestnut Street between the hours of 3:30 and 6:30 in the afternoon. The board also voted in favor of an inquiry of the cost, the practicality and the likely duration of the installation of sidewalks in the neighborhood.

Such votes, made unanimously after a motion made by Selectman Robert Palmer, arrived on the heels of a public debate and a series of recommendations presented to the board by Town Manager Michael Cairra on behalf of himself, Police Chief Bernard Nally and DPW Superintendent Donald Onusseit.

The recommendations were made in response to 90 days of data collected from police surveillance of the congested afternoon traffic on Chestnut Street and its neighboring roads, as well as answers offered on a survey that Town Manager Cairra issued to as many as 400 households in the area. The 90-day study was prompted by residents on Chestnut Street and Butters Row, who heavily attended a Selectmen meeting in February and pleaded town officials to curb the gridlock of commuters who take shortcuts through their neighborhoods on Mondays through Fridays.

Many of those residents were present at the May 29 meeting and heard Town Manager Cairra offer the following recommendations to the Board of Selectmen:

- It was suggested to the board that one-way traffic restrictions should not be imposed on Chestnut Street, Butters Row or any of the surrounding streets during any hours of the day.

Said Cairra, "The imposition of

Sam crossed the brook in two jumps

By CAPT. LARZ NELSON

WILMINGTON - About 100 years ago, a gentleman by the name of Sam Rice lived in the house at the corner of Middlesex Avenue and Clark Street. He was a carpenter, and a good one, and he lived a good and full life.

Sam seems to have run for public office only once, and then for the post of constable. He was resoundingly elected, getting around 125 votes, while his two opponents got one vote each.

This was around the time of the Spanish-American War. The writer has been unable to find any record which would indicate that Sam was constable of Wilmington in the period indicated in these two yarns, which was perhaps just before World War I, or possibly during that war.

The two yarns about Sam are worthy of relating, even if there is a possibility that they are not true, or that some person other than Sam was involved.

Sam became the constable of Wilmington, and as such was also unofficially the Chief of Police. There was no such appointment, but there were those who called him "Chief," and he did perform police duties.

This was back in the days after Dr. Mrs. Hiller had died, but before

MADD Award

Officer Pupa leads WPD in OUI arrests

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - Whoever unwisely dares to drink and drive in Wilmington better hope that they do not get pulled over by Officer Brian Pupa.

Since January of 2000, Officer Pupa has been responsible for the most OUI arrests within the Wilmington Police Department. As a result, he has caught the eye of the MetroWest Chapter of Mothers Against Drunk Driving, who has chosen him to receive its Officer of the Year Award.

Says Indira Desai, the chapter's president, "The purpose of this award is to honor the unsung hero of our roadways. When an individual does a job well and their role in protecting the community, we feel we must collectively take the time to thank and recognize their efforts."

Senator Bruce Tarr agrees. At the May 29 selectman meeting, Senator Tarr praised Officer Pupa as a "very distinguished member of the Wilmington Police Department that needs to be honored." Tarr presented Pupa with two citations, one from the State Senate and another from Governor Jane Swift.

"Since you're so used to giving out citations, we thought it was time for you to receive a couple yourself," joked Senator Tarr.

On a serious note, Senator Tarr mentioned that the issue of drunk driving is a "major issue" on Beacon Hill, but that there is no substitute for having an officer like Pupa out on the street.

"You are the important link in this process," Tarr told Pupa. "The Wilmington Police Department is a great department, and Brian, you're a great example of that."

According to Police Chief Bernard Nally, Officer Pupa has arrested 16 of the 107 drunk drivers who have been arrested within the past eight-

Jan's House of Hope to benefit VNA/Hospice Care

WILMINGTON/TEWKSBURY - Advance tickets are now on sale to tour Jan's House of Hope, a 3,100 square foot dream house that is sailing into the Charlestown Navy Yard to raise awareness and funds for cancer care programs at Hospice Care, Inc. and its parent company, the Visiting Nurse Association of Boston.

The public is invited to tour Jan's House of Hope on the following days: Friday, June 8, 1 to 9 p.m.; Saturday, June 9, 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Sunday, June 10, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Boston is the second port of call for Jan's House of Hope Dream Tour that begins in Portsmouth, N.H., and ends later this summer in Virginia.

Docked at Pier 4 at the Charlestown Navy Yard, adjacent to the U.S.S. Constitution, Jan's House of Hope is a 3,100 square foot fully furnished and landscaped dream house with a three car garage that was built on a 150-foot by 60-foot barge for its East Coast tour.

The home features the latest housing innovations, and is decorated and furnished by Home Magazine. It was featured in the Winter 2001 edition.

The spacious three bedroom house (all with walk-in closets), includes a generous master suite. It is handicapped accessible and boasts a home office, loft and a $40,000 media room built by Sharp Electronics.

Designed by Basic Designs of Omaha, Nebraska, the house features cathedral ceilings, a 12 foot high entryway, and well designed, fully functional and attractive living space. The kitchen is furnished with the latest Jennaire appliances and Thomasville cabinetry. There is a breakfast room and dining room.

Advanced tickets are available by contacting Hospice Care, Inc., at (781) 279-4100 or the Visiting Nurse Association of Boston at (617) 779-3326.

A preview party and private house tour as well as a special summer fashion show at the historical Commandant's House in the Navy Yard, are planned as further fundraising endeavors. Tickets are available through the VNA and Hospice Care, at the listed telephone numbers.

"We are very excited to be part of this unique Dream House Tour as it sails down the east coast," said Kate Colburn, a volunteer from Hospice Care, Inc., and Boston port manager. "Jan's House of Hope is an extremely positive interactive effort to raise awareness about cancer and the treatment options available to individuals experiencing the disease."

Hospice Care, Inc. is the oldest and largest Hospice in the metropolitan Boston area. The Visiting Nurse Association of Boston is the oldest and second largest VNA in the nation. "Both organizations have long been dedicated to serving individuals with cancer and their families during treatment and later in the care and comfort stage," Colburn said.

To get on board with Jan's House of Hope, please contact Kate Colburn at 781-279-7101, or visit the web site at www.janshouseofhope.com. Help in this mission from concerned people and companies is welcomed.

Hospice Care Inc. services more than 30 communities including Burlington, Reading, Winchester, Wakefield, Wilmington, Tewksbury, Stoneham and Woburn.

ABOUT THOSE CAPITAL GAINS TAX CHANGES

Tax rates are lower on some capital gains taxes this year—which may or may not be good for you.

The good news is that those in the 15-percent bracket pay only 8 percent on stock held more than five years and sold after 2000. If you have stock to sell that you have held for five years or more, and give it to a child, presumably in the lowest bracket, any profit on that transaction is taxed at only 8 percent.

It's also good that those in the upper bracket pay only 18 percent in stocks held five years or more.

The bad news is that five-year holding period starts this year. In order to get the new deal on stocks you've held before, you need to pay a 20-percent tax up front on the paper profits you held as of January 2 this year, and then hold the investment five years more. Fortunately, you don't have to decide until next April 15, when 2001 taxes are due—or later with extensions.

When financial decisions have tax considerations, check them out with the tax people at

...Chestnut Street in Wilmington

Democracy in Action

Chestnut Street and its daily battles with commuter gridlock and pedestrian safety was the hot topic at the Board of Selectmen's meeting on Tuesday, May 29.

The discussion, which was slated for 35 minutes on the agenda and ballooned to longer than an hour and a half, was the continuation of a selectmen meeting in February. At that contentious meeting, Chestnut Street residents and their neighbors made known the headaches that they've been routinely fighting ever since construction at the Route 62 bridge sent commuters looking for a shortcut in their neck of the woods.

On Tuesday night, Town Manager Michael Cairra presented to the board recommendations that he believed would improve the situation at Chestnut Street and Butters Row. The recommendations, which included installing sidewalks, widening the Butters Row Bridge and rejecting a call for access restrictions, were based on 90 days of police observation and approximately 400 surveys that swept the area.

When Town Manager Cairra finished, the public - namely, the folks on Chestnut Street and its surrounding roads - was given an opportunity to make their feelings known.

The whole discussion and, indeed, the 90 days that led up to it, was an example of how a local government can work for its people.

Town Manager Cairra, Police Chief Bernard Nally and DPW Superintendent Donald Onusseit did precisely what they told the folks of Chestnut Street they were going to do. The offices of all three town officials observed the behavior of commuters passing through the area, made a few adjustments, issued surveys and used their responses to tailor their recommendations. Sure enough, the ideas put forth by Cairra at the selectmen meeting were consistent with the answers of the impressive 47% of residents who filled out and passed in their questionnaires.

Here at the Town Crier we hear from a lot of people who feel that their grievances and matters of urgency fall on deaf ears or hit a brick wall when presented to the Powers That Be at the Town Hall. Sometimes that seems to be the case.

Not this time, though. Town officials listened to Chestnut Street residents and took their grievances seriously. They spent time observing their neighborhood and taking measures to make it a bit safer. They solicited opinions and asked homeowners what they'd be willing to do to make Chestnut Street and Butters Row a better place for adults and children alike. They formed their solutions accordingly.

Some residents at the selectmen meeting maintained their reservations, reiterated their concerns and left the Town Hall feeling perhaps a bit dissatisfied. Nonetheless, the entire Chestnut Street episode thus far has demonstrated how effective and priceless democracy can be when town officials and residents meet each other half way and move forward on a problem together.

The Family Therapist Becoming Sexually Active

by Anthony Ferrara

The body may be ready for intimacy, but is the child? This ultimate human connection should go with responsibility and knowledge of the consequences. The child doesn't have this sophistication. Passion and the euphoria of sexuality overwhelm sensibility. The child has no guidelines, because he has never experienced these feelings before. Children too easily make decisions that are inappropriate and counter productive.

This happened to a 15-year-old male child I was counseling. He had a girlfriend but had no idea how to relate to her as a separate human being. She now belonged to him, and no one would take her away. He denied her friends, and restricted her travel. Like many children's infatuation it smothered the relationship, destroying anything meaningful. Sexual encounter takes the ultimate responsibility and knowledge that children lack. If anything, most children try to avoid basic responsibilities. Helping Mom to clean the house, or feeding the dog is avoided whenever possible. Imagine not taking the necessary precautions when having sex. A reprimand for not doing your chores is mild compared to a pregnancy.

If only the child could advance 10 years into the future to look back at what she is doing today. Children have no idea how their opposite sex partner thinks or feels about sex. The female is usually enthralled in love and gives her body to prove her intent. Inspired by the belief her deep intense feelings are shared by her male lover. The boy is usually driven by pure sex, a need to satisfy a frustrating urge.

Even if they were to understand the feelings of their partners it would not be enough. For a relationship to work it takes more than knowing the feelings of your sex partner. Children should have the ability to know their own deep feelings, needs, values and to be able to express them. Is it any wonder parents are so concerned about their child becoming sexually involved? Parents have seen or experienced unwanted pregnancies, sexually transmitted diseases, and the heartbreak.

The child can only feel the ecstasy of love, and the pleasure of physical fulfillment. As soon as the hormones come alive, the child's fight for independence begins. "It's my body and my life. You have no right to stop me. All my friends are free to have their boyfriends or girlfriends. Oh, Ma, you're behind the times, just look at TV and Spring Break. Pick up most magazines and you will see I'm right." It may be the child's body and life, but it will certainly become the parent's responsibility to take care of a pregnancy or infection, sometimes making the parent a lifetime caretaker.

Dealing with your children's sexual drive, their independence, and cultural influence on them is an overwhelming job. Unless strong respect and responsibility have been instilled at an early age, success is doubtful. In the past there was shame and fear. This came not only from parents, but also from friends, peers, and the general public. Right or wrong these consequences helped to save many children from making fatal mistakes that would last a lifetime. Most children's lack of shame, combined with their parent's loss of authority makes early sex very difficult to prevent.

Parents must be respected and be in control over their children to prevent them from making fatal mistakes. Becoming close by sharing and communicating is the first step. Preventing sexual intimacy at an early age is the obvious concern. However, there are many more devastating concerns. Some children have never known the warmth, closeness, and complete acceptance of another human being. Carnal knowledge can temporarily fulfill these human cravings. They can experience completeness and a joy never experienced before.

However, all this ecstasy can turn into horror if one child is rejected by the other. It's like finding one's soul and then losing it. This can cause anger, depression, and hopelessness. Adults can also experience this devastation. As a rule their maturity gives them a better chance of survival. Seeking help through friends or counseling gives the adult who has lost love more options in easing their pain. The child can become engulfed in a maze of confusion and depression possibly ending in suicide. This type of personality deals with anguish by self-destruction. Other children can find closure by the destruction of their love partner. Love and intimacy can, indeed be costly.

The longer the child waits the more sensible the sexual involvement. With every passing year healthy choice and meaningfulness become more possible. To extend these years, parents should know where their children are, and what they are doing, at all times. Children have a network of friends who will lie to protect their buddies. Parents need the same communicating closeness with other parents to verify their children's statements. If you child states she is sleeping over Tina's house, call Tina's mother to verify. Don't feel you're intruding when trying to protect your child's salvation.

Looking back to the first encounter should be a beautiful experience. Yet many individuals, (mostly women), look back in regret or shame, especially when they truly fall in love. They then realize what the ultimate closeness was meant to be and with whom. The child has a fighting chance when you, as the parent give more love, attention, and understanding. The avoid that children feel at puberty will be diminished by your love.

N.H.S. looks back on an accomplished year

TEWKSBURY - The senior class is preparing to leave the halls of Tewksbury Memorial High School and all of their loose ends are being tied.

The National Honor Society advisor, Mrs. Carole Accone, has just inducted members of the incoming junior class into Tewksbury's Chapter of the Society and is now preparing to say goodbye to the seniors she has been with for so long.

At the induction ceremony, students spoke to the crowd about character, service, leadership and scholarship, as well as the history of the society and some of its traditions.

Melinda Monaco spoke on the topic of scholarship and how this is a virtue attributed to a society member. When the applause died down, Stephen Bagley then spoke on character and how it should be apparent in the lives of all those in the room and beyond. After the excellent speech given by Steve, it was Megan Hickey who took charge and spoke on leadership and its importance to everyone.

These students, as well as others preceding them, gave the audience the background of the society just before Stephen Davos finished up the speeches with a summary of the community activities the students accomplished that year. When listening to the list, the students could look back, and their parents could realize once again all of the wonderful things these children achieved. From making a teacher's day just a little more special to collecting loose change in the cafeteria for charity, the students demonstrated that they were productive members of society all the year round.

The final activity that Steve spoke of was also the society's list to be completed. After a vacation to Disney World in Florida, the students went to some of the sixth grade classes at the Ryan School to teach the younger children about the environment, animals, different countries, foreign languages and much more. The experiences that they took from Disney's Animal Kingdom and Epcot Theme Park were combined with outside research and then presented to the children in a fun and educational way.

When the students arrived at the Ryan School, their former teachers looked at these seniors and saw just what encouraging and motivating students they had become greeted them. After teaching the children what they had learned, and getting a tremendous thank-you from the children, the National Honor Society students finished their last organized charitable work, through the school, and headed back to resume their own education.

On the bus back from the school, the students remembered all of the things that they had done as a group and looked back on all of the good that they did for others. Carole Accone can now look at these students, dressed in golden stoles and tassels on graduation day, and be proud of all the things they did.

The students in return can look at Mrs. Accone and be thankful for all the wonderful things she guided them through during the year. She has given them experiences that will stay with them for a lifetime.

Letters To The Editor

Peterson disagrees with choice of principal

Dear Editor:
On May 21, a meeting was held by the Tewksbury School Committee for the purpose of interviewing three candidates for the position of Principal at the Dewing School.

Prior to the interviews, I was informed that the candidate had previously been decided upon and the interviews were merely a formality.

Prior to my knowledge that a candidate had been chosen, I expended a great deal of time during the weekend before the interviews, reviewing the job description, applications, references and qualifications of the three candidates in question. I entered the interview meeting with an unbiased interest of selecting the best and most qualified candidate for the students within the Dewing School district.

Upon conclusion of the interviews, it was my opinion, as well as the opinion of other members of the School Committee, that the current acting Principal lacked experience in school administration and management and the certification by the state of Massachusetts that is necessary to be an elementary school principal. We were told that she is eligible, however, to apply for this certification in the future. It was also my personal feeling that someone who has taught almost 28 years among the fellow teachers at the school would find it somewhat difficult to motivate, challenge and properly evaluate said teachers.

Although I find the acting Principal to be a dedicated, pleasant and distinguished educator, I hold the belief that all qualifications must be met in order to appoint a candidate to a specific position.

At the conclusion of our interviews, the Superintendent of Schools informed us that she had visited the "sites" of the two "outside candidates" and was planning to appoint the acting principal, which she later informed had been offered the position. I honestly cannot understand the rationalization surrounding this decision.

The entire issue is troubling to me, although it is not a personal issue with any of the candidates who were interviewed. Rather, I have stated throughout my campaign that if I were elected I would work to ensure that the best interests of the students remain uppermost in my mind.

I do not support this appointment and have asked for reconsideration of the entire matter with the Superintendent.

I would further state that I will not "go with the flow" with issues such as this or any other issue during my term on the Tewksbury School Committee.

Sincerely,
Dennis J. Peterson
Tewksbury School Committee

Public Safety Building flag poles at incorrect heights

Dear Editor:
I have seen the outside of the new "Protective Services" Building from the outside. Can't miss it. I go by it at least twice a day.
It is a very impressive building. There is, however, one item that got past the Permanent Building Committee and the architect. There are two flagpoles outside the building. The problem is that the American Flag is flying beside the State flag, and they are both at the same height.

To quote Flag Etiquette: "The Flag of the United States of America should be at the center and at the highest point of the group when flags of States or localities are grouped and displayed from staffs."

Maybe the flag pole from the old police station should be moved to the new building, and the other new one can be used on the next new building.

Sincerely,
Frank D. Curley

Rep. Miceli incorporates education and elderly needs into FY '02 House budget

TEWKSBURY - Representative Miceli once has delivered for The Town of Tewksbury in the FY '02 budget.

The clear emphasis in this House budget is education. Representative Miceli met with Chairman Rogers early on in the budget process to ensure that his towns have the funds necessary to provide a quality education to the students in his district.

The Town of Tewksbury will receive $11,476,069 in Chapter 70 (education) money. This number is $388,620 more than last year's Conference Committee Budget and $202,721 higher than this year's Governor's recommendation (H1).

Tewksbury will also receive $3,032,625 from the State's Lottery Distribution, which is $214,221 more than last year's allocation. Chairman Miceli responds to questions on education "In my tenure in office, I have always voted for our children. I believe that our children deserve the best education we can provide for them."

Representative Miceli also worked with House leaders to ensure that the House Budget included $85.9 million for the Prescription Advantage Program. This program was initially established to assist seniors with the skyrocketing prices of prescription drugs, and was amended in last year's budget to incorporate the disabled and those partially covered by HMO's.

Some of the other initiatives included in the final House Budget are:

*Increased (Chapter 70) Education Funding for Cities and Towns by $18 million

*Increased Personal Needs Allowance (to $66.40) for individuals in nursing homes

*Increased salaries for Child Care Workers to $25 million

*Increased Direct Care Workers Salaries to $25 million. Direct Care workers provide care for mentally and physically handicapped individuals.

*Increased funding for Battered Women's Shelter and Services by $700,000

*Increased funding for the Community Economic Development Corporations by $1 million

*Increased coverage for Breast and Cervical Cancer Treatment

Representative Miceli encourages all his constituents with questions regarding the House budget to contact his office at 617-722-2582.

ATTENTION: Home Owners...

"Don't Buy A New Air Conditioner...
 Until You See My
 $500 No-Frustration Guarantee"

Dear Friend,

The worst thing that can happen (other than paying too much) when you replace your air conditioner, is to have the new one break down...or fail to cool properly...on a hot day.

Now, most air conditioning companies offer a parts and labor warranty for at least a year, but that doesn't keep you from the frustration and aggravation of being without air conditioning. Some times it's days until they fix it...even if they fix it for nothing.

So, there you are with a new air conditioner...and no cooling!

ENOUGH IS ENOUGH

Anyway, I decided that enough is enough and I would put my money where my mouth is. R.H. Young Co. installs air conditioners better than anybody in the area. So, I decided to have a guarantee better than anyone else.

It's simply this. I invented my own $500 No-Frustration Guarantee that you get in addition to all the normal parts and labor warranties.

Here's how it works. Purchase your new supreme central air conditioner from R.H. Young Air Conditioning (you can choose from several major brands). Then, if it breaks down just once...due to equipment failure, or if there is any problem as a result of our installation and you are without cooling...I will not only fix it FREE...I will also pay you $500 for your inconvenience, frustration and aggravation. And this guarantee is for a full year.

This proves that when you do business with R.H. Young Cooling and Heating, you can't lose. And because of my guarantee, I can't afford to cut corners on installation or sell you a lemon.

So, doesn't it just make good sense to get a no-obligation, FREE survey and estimate before you purchase from anyone else? Call now...

Fitzgerald, who died in a fire at Coconut Grove on November 28, 1942. ## A child's graduation means many things to a parent!

Like no more "Do you have any homework?" or "Where are you going, and who are you going to be with?" and "Did you bring your gym clothes home for me to wash?" and "Did you forget there's such a thing as a phone if you're going to be late?" Aaaah! This does call for a celebration! Mark the moment with a special gift for that special child!

FORGIVING YOURSELF

Survivors often experience feelings of guilt when a loved one dies. They may ask themselves why they did not express their love more than they did. Or, they may linger on hurtful words or actions they once directed at the deceased. The thing to remember is that it is scarcely possible to love someone without experiencing hurt at one time or another. We may feel helpless with our guilt because a loved one may not be around to ask his or her forgiveness. Yet, we may still ask for forgiveness. Most importantly, we must forgive ourselves. Bear this in mind if you have asked God for forgiveness countless times. Forgive yourself, love yourself, and let go of your guilt.

Many people also find relief from guilt when they realize that the person for whom they are grieving would not want them to feel guilty. At Farmer & Dee Funeral Home, we are experienced at assisting grieving families in planning beautiful ceremonies. If you would like any further information, please don't hesitate to call us.

32nd Annual Graduation at St. Robert's

SANDOVER - St. Robert's Country Day School of Andover held its 32nd annual graduation ceremony on June 6. The school was originally founded by St. Robert's Parish in 1969 to fulfill the recognized need of Tewksbury parishioners who lacked a public kindergarten. Since then, more than 1500 students have graduated from its program.

Today, the school remains a preeminent parent cooperative preschool serving Andover, Tewksbury and surrounding communities. Students are exposed to music, art, cooking, creative movement, science, readiness skills, and other units to emphasize cognitive, motor, academic and social skills. Parents participate by serving on the Parents board, as room parents and as teachers helpers in the open play area.

Students graduating from Tewksbury are Mark Brooks, Paul Fleury, Brandon Hibner.

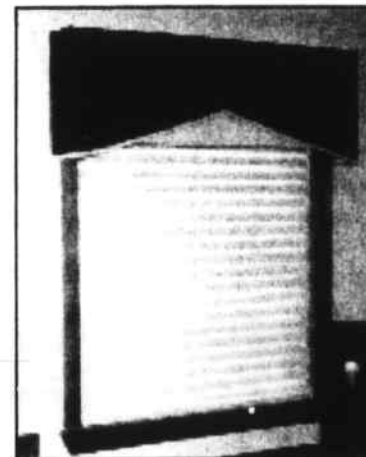

Students graduating from Wilmington are Steven and Caitlin Parrott.

Selectmen approve sidewalks inquiry

traffic restrictions would exacerbate the traffic problems in other areas of town by forcing traffic to areas that are already overburdened.

Caira, who noted that a rejection of "Do Not Enter" signs was consistent with the responses to his survey, mentioned that such restrictions would jeopardize safety, inconvenience residents, and make duties more difficult for police officers.

It was recommended to the selectmen that they press the Massachusetts Highway Department to improve the intersection at Cross Street and widen the Butters Row Bridge in order to ensure better safety in crossing the bridge and avoid commuter back-up at the intersection near it.

"Every undersized bridge in the community, with the exception of Butters Row, has been widened and the result has been an improvement in safety," said Caira.

The construction of sidewalks, which may call for residents to sacrifice a portion of their property, was recommended on both Chestnut Street and Butters Row, two narrow streets in need of a safety measure.

Finally, Caira assured the board and the members of the audience that the Wilmington Police Department will continue to increase its presence on Chestnut Street, Butters Row and Marion Street in order to cut down on speeding and other acts of commuter recklessness. It was also recommended to the board that additional speed limit signs be placed throughout the area.

According to Caira, such recommendations were consistent with the results of the responses he received to the survey he issued earlier this spring: Those who answered the survey were against any kind of traffic restrictions surrounding Chestnut Street, Butters

Row, Burlington Avenue and Main Street; were in favor of installing sidewalks on Chestnut Street and Butters Row; were, on the whole, willing to donate part of their property to space made for sidewalks; and were in favor of reconstructing the Butters Row Bridge.

Mickey Rooney, a resident of Chestnut Street, addressed the board once Caira was finished presenting his recommendations and survey results. Rooney praised the police department for its increased presence in his neighborhood, but he did not find any credibility in the survey that was conducted. In fact, he suggested that the survey did not reflect the residents sitting in the audience behind him.

"Take it out and do it away," Rooney urged the board. "Take a hand vote instead."

Jim Savage, a resident of nearby Towpath Drive, took offense at Rooney's suggestion that the survey be thrown out.

"The same people urging you to throw out the survey were the ones who were urging us to finish it," maintained Savage. "The results of the survey speak for themselves."

Rooney recommended to the board that it would be a good idea to put one-way signs at various points in the neighborhood between the busy commuter hours of 3:30 and 6:30 in the afternoon.

"It doesn't make sense not to give it a try for a few months," he stated.

Rooney also suggested that more money should be put into the town's budget to finance more police officers who could patrol traffic in his neighborhood and elsewhere in town.

At one point, it was mentioned that the police presence on Chestnut Street would be highly visible for a while and then would decrease dramatically for a period of time. According to Chief Nally, such a pattern actually occurs for a reason: When police presence on busy streets drops off, commuters get comfortable again, and authorities are better able to acquire a typical look at motorists' habits.

Daniel Halliday, a resident of Butters Row, told the board that he did not like the idea of having the bridge on his street widened. To his recollection, only one traffic accident has occurred on Butters Row Bridge in the past 30 years and even then, he said, it was related to a snow storm. Halliday said that broadening the bridge would give shortcutters less cause to be cautious as they approach it.

"If you widen the bridge, you've given them a gift," said Halliday. Apple Tree Lane resident Rick Spry asked Superintendent Onusseit what he felt would be a realistic time frame for the installation of sidewalks in the neighborhood.

"It would not be this year," Onusseit answered, noting that the surveying and the engineering of the land itself would take a year. "It would take at least three years. That's an optimistic assessment."

Caira submitted that three-to-five years would be a more plausible time frame because the town is first committed to laying down sidewalks on Wildwood and Woburn Streets, which both have schools on them.

Selectman Michael McCoy asked Caira if the residents would have to pay for the sidewalks that would be built in the place of the property that they would donate to the town. Caira assured Selectman McCoy and residents in the audience that funds exist for such expenses.

After Selectman Palmer made his motion that the board vote to reject one-way restrictions and approve an investigation into the possibility of sidewalks, Selectman Scott Garratt seconded it.

"It is incumbent upon us to follow the survey," said Selectman Garratt.

Selectman Michael Newhouse voted in favor of the motion, but made it known that he would like more time to consider whether or not Butters Row Bridge should be widened.

een months. (Officer Chris Dindo is close behind with 12 arrests.)

"He's been a good officer," says Chief Nally.

Officer Pupa, who attended the selectmen meeting with his wife and parents, has a Master's degree in Criminal Justice from Suffolk University. He joined the Wilmington Police Department in 1997 and has worked the midnight-to-eight shift ever since.

Officer Pupa doesn't just catch inebriated motorists. He works with young adults in an underaged drinking program to try and keep them from abusing substances and going out on the road in the first place.

The board weighed in with its accolades when Selectman Chairman Robert Cain presented Pupa with a Certificate of Achievement.

From the selectmen meeting, Officer Pupa's next stop will be the honorary breakfast at MADD's 6th Annual Law Enforcement Appreciation Breakfast, which will take place at the Sheraton Hotel/in Framingham on Sunday, June 3.

Sam crossed the brook in two jumps

Mason Alexander got to building the garage on Main Street, now occupied by Galante's gas station. For many years, it was known as "Louie's."

The brook that runs under Main Street and under that garage building was used each fall to flood the cranberry bog in what is now known as Rotary Park. Mrs. Hiller, an eccentric and wealthy resident of town in the late 1800's, owned the cranberry bog. The bog would be flooded in the fall to prevent the freezing of the plants. Mrs. Hiller would pay Sidney Buck for the privilege of running water in a channel across his land.

After she died in 1900, the money was no longer forthcoming, and Sidney forthwith began taking a dim view of the water going across his land. Among other things, he said that his cellar flooded.

The two stories concern Sam and that brook.

In the first story, the kids in the neighborhood of the cranberry bog were always conspiring to get the water into the cranberry bog as winter approached, without having to pay Sidney Buck the ten bucks.

One winter, they just couldn't get anywhere. Sidney had built a dam across the brook and the water wouldn't flow. And Sam, who lived a few doors away, was perfectly willing to give Sidney a hand chasing the boys away.

Up in Wilmington Square, the telephone crew was installing new cable. There was a huge wooden spool of cable on top of the hill. So, one night, the kids got together and turned that spool around so the cable would unwind, and let the spool go down the hill with a clatter. What those kids did to make it clatter, the writer does not know. But Sam heard it, and came running to find out what was the matter.

While Sam was taking care of the cable, there came a dull boom, back on Sidney Buck's land. The kids had blown up the dam and the water was flowing into the bog. There was plenty of skating that winter.

The writer would guess that it was the late Billy Boynton who blew up that dam. Billy was a handy man with explosives all his life. He used to blow up rocks for the farmers. It is quite possible that he blew up that dam, too.

The second tale about Sam and that brook took place on Main Street.

Rudolph Porter was the section boss for the Boston and Maine Railroad, and for the Boston and Lowell before that. Rudolph lived in the house across from the present fire station. It was once a railroad station, having been moved from a site near the crossing of the Wildcat tracks on Main Street.

Rudolph, called "Dolph," won a derby and was often to be seen in or near Wilmington Square. Many old pictures of Wilmington Square show Dolph in his derby hat.

Dolph had a hand car to go with his job as section chief on the railroad. It was one of those railroad carts where two men stood and pumped a see-saw lever to make the car go on the tracks. At night it was kept by the old roundhouse, behind what is now Wilmington Builders.

One night, some of the boys stole Dolph's hand car and put it on the old street car tracks. They headed right down Main Street toward Tewksbury. Somebody saw them and called Sam, who called the constable in Tewksbury.

The boys pumped away, and as they approached Tewksbury Center they could see, on the tracks ahead, several railroad ties. There would be no further progress in that direction, and a couple of men were waiting for them.

So the boys reversed direction, and started back to Wilmington. When they got to the crest of the small hill by Clark Street, they could see down near the brook ahead of them, some ties on the tracks. Sam was waiting for them, and again, there was no further they could go.

So the boys put on their best effort, and got that hand-pumper going just as fast as they could. Just before it hit that pile of ties, they jumped off.

They ran down the street, and when they came to the brook, again they jumped. Sam was right behind them.

The boys successfully crossed the brook in just one on jump, but not Sam.

It took him two jumps.

Miceli takes pulse on MCAS

comes to such matters.

In both communities, 74% of poll-takers rejected the idea that such elections be funded in part by the money of taxpayers. According to the survey, the practice was found to be acceptable to 25% of the folks in Wilmington and 24% of the people in Tewksbury.

• OPEN SPACE. It is in this category that town officials in both communities may want to listen closely. Individuals who attended their Town Meeting and filled out Representative Miceli's questionnaire were asked if they felt that their town was doing enough to obtain open space.

Tewksbury residents responded with the most resounding answer in that a whopping 82% of those polled answered that their local officials were not doing enough to obtain and secure open space. A scant 14% answered favorably to the question and 4% did not express an opinion on the matter.

In Wilmington, 65% of polled residents replied that they did not feel that enough was being done in town to obtain open space, while 29% did. Six percent of those polled were undecided on the matter.

• THE WATER SUPPLY. The poll-takers were asked how they felt about the quality of the water supply in their community. The responses in this category resembled those of the question regarding the MCAS exam in that the gap between "positive" and "negative" answers was smaller than those on the topics of taxpayers' money and open space. At the same time, though, it is evident that the people of Wilmington have less confidence in their water supply than do their neighbors in Tewksbury.

Forty-seven percent of Wilmington poll-takers noted having "negative" feelings about the quality of their community's water supply, whereas only 36% of those in Tewksbury harbor such sentiments. Interestingly, though, the reports in both communities about "positive" feelings about their water supplies were virtually the same: 43% of the poll-takers in Tewksbury felt good about their water supply and 41% of those in Wilmington did.

The disparity in "negative" feelings about the water supplies in both communities can be attributed to the high and differing percentage of individuals who were simply undecided on the issue. Twenty-one percent of Tewksbury poll-takers did not express an opinion about their town's water. In Wilmington, the "undecideds" were high, as well, but they came in at 12%.

• AVERAGES. Switching gears from "compare and contrast" to

"averages," here are the following answers to Representative Miceli's Town Meeting question when combined:

Fifty-one percent of the people in Wilmington and Tewksbury feel that high school graduation should not be contingent upon a student passing the MCAS exam, whereas 46% did feel it should be a requirement. Three percent of those polled were undecided.

Seventy-four percent of those polled in both communities expressed that they did not feel that various state elections should be financed in part on the backs of the taxpayers, whereas 24.5% did not have a problem with the concept. A scant 1.5% did not offer an opinion in this category.

A total of 73.5% of those polled in both communities did not feel that their town officials were doing enough to obtain open space, whereas 21.5% did feel that enough was being done. Five percent were undecided on the matter.

Lastly, 44.5% of those polled in Tewksbury in Wilmington answered that they had "positive" feelings about their community's water supply and 39% of them reported that they felt "negative" about the matter. In this category, a notable 16.5% of those polled were undecided on the subject.

Tewksbury Council on Aging news

TEWKSBURY - The senior citizens will be holding their giant yard sale and senior version of the Antique Roadshow Saturday, June 2 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Tewksbury Senior Center, 175 Chandler Street. There will be many tables to browse around and many treasures to be found. We'll also have a bake sale table and luncheon specials.

Those people taking items for the appraiser, Arthur Bergeron, should obtain a number upon arrival at the Senior Center. It is suggested that you limit your items to three. If you have more, you may obtain another number and be seen again. There is no charge for this service. However, donations will gladly be accepted for the Friends of the Elderly Senior Center Building Fund.

Don't forget to put the yard sale on your list of things to do on June 2 - for the event will be held rain or shine. Hope to see you there!

A special note of thanks is extended to the Heider Construction Company for providing equipment for the Senior Citizen Memorial Day Parade float and to Mr. Heider for "hauling" us in the parade. Special thanks are also extended to the Tewksbury Transit Company and its driver for providing transportation to/from and in the parade as they have done for the last 10-12 years! Last, but far from least, we thank DJ American and the Gilberts for the float entertainment and music as well as all our senior citizens who helped.

Those senior citizens who have participated in Mrs. Morris' third grade class project should note that Mrs. Morris and her class will be visiting you at the Senior Center Monday, June 4. They will be arriving shortly after 11 a.m. so do try to be on time.

Dr. Smith will be at the Senior Center next Tuesday, June 5, to conduct his podiatry clinic. Those attending, are asked to check their appointment time. It is suggested that you come about 10 minutes prior to your appointment just in case the doctor is ahead of schedule. At present this clinic is full with a waiting list being compiled.

At the time this article was submitted (5/25) the Yoken's trip of June 6 and the Foxwood trip of July 13 are both pretty much filled up. However, there is still room available on the following trips: Rockingham Park on June 18 at a price of $20; Cape Ann Rugged Shores motorcoach trip of June 28 at $43 (please note I made an error in last week's column...there is no cruise on this Cape Ann trip); and Mohegan for three hours and a lobster baked lunch on July 23 at $45.

Please note that we will soon have specific days and hours for day trip business. It has been the custom to be able to get a trip ticket at any time during the week. Lately, however, due to additional programs and activities this practice seems to be presenting a problem in getting routine COA business done. Therefore, seniors can anticipate that a set schedule will be started in the very near future. Your cooperation in this matter will be very much appreciated.

Thursday, June 7, will be the last day to register for the June SERVE food package. Registrations will take place from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Senior Center. SERVE is featuring two specials this month: "steak" and "chicken kabobs." SERVE is opened to residents of Tewksbury as well as surrounding towns and to people of all ages. For more information, one may call Mary Ann Wareham at 978-851-3344 or Linda Brabant at the Senior Center 978-640-4480.

Tom MacPherson, our senior band organizer, is looking for senior citizen musicians especially trombone, trumpet and saxophone players. This group gets together every Wednesday from 3 to 5:30 p.m. During the summer they may meet a couple of times a week while space is available. For more information call the Senior Center. To talk directly to Tom MacPherson, one may want to call the Center on Wednesday about 2:45 p.m. Just a layman's observation...they are sounding pretty darned good! Have a wonderful week.

Coakley addresses the North Atlantic Regional State Police Conference

CAMBRIDGE - Monday, May 7, Middlesex District Attorney Martha Coakley addressed the Division of State and Provincial Police North Atlantic Regional Conference, sponsored by the International Association of Chiefs of Police. Speaking during the conference's opening ceremony, District Attorney Coakley discussed the current state of affairs of law enforcement.

"Over the past several years, the decline in violent misconduct has been counter balanced by a proliferation of new, complex, high-tech crime," District Attorney Coakley said. "Law enforcement is prepared to meet this new challenge with our own technological advances, like mitochondrial DNA testing, computer forensics, and information sharing systems that allow federal, state and local agencies to collaborate more effectively. It is imperative that the next generation of law enforcement be composed of the best and the brightest individuals, in particular, those trained to use advanced technologies."

The conference consisted of several informational workshops led by representatives of the Massachusetts State Police, including discussions of new firearms training programs, internet crimes against children, and cooperative policing protocols. Colonel John DiFava, Superintendent of the Massachusetts State Police, introduced District Attorney Coakley and hosted the event. Secretary of State Jane Perlov, Boston Police Commissioner Paul Evans, and William Bratton, former Commissioner of the New York Police Department, also spoke during the conference's opening ceremony.

Representatives of several state police agencies from the New England and Mid-Atlantic regions, as well as the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, attended the conference, which ended May 9, 2001. It was held at the Seaport Hotel in Boston.

Calway takes two firsts at state meet

Double duty, double trophies

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Chris Calway was proud of what he accomplished on Saturday but he certainly down played it. The humble three-sport athlete took first place in the both the 300 meter hurdles and the high jump at the Class D State Meet held at Norwell.

Calway knows he's not the best track star in the state, but the two-time Class D Champion should realize that a kid from Wilmington doesn't take two firsts at a state meet too often (it's believed Greg Young and Kevin Cripianuk are the others).

Had Wilmington been in the Class A Meet, Calway would have finished third in the 300 hurdles behind two studs, Jeff Meehan (38.9) of Lowell and Stanley-Pierre Louis (39.5) of Cambridge. Had Wilmington been in Class B, Calway would have finished third again behind Gloucester Chris Natti (38.8) and Woburn's Jason Paige (39.0). And had Wilmington been in Class C, he would've finished second behind Stoneham's Xavier Garcia (38.8), another stud athlete from the Middlesex League.

With just five athletes with better times than him from Eastern Mass., Calway hopes this Saturday he can continue to tremendous success and perhaps really appreciate what he has done in track-and-field.

"I still want to break 40 seconds," he said. "I'd like to place in the top six so I can go on to the New Englands. I've gone against some of the [other top hurdlers] and they beat me but not by much. I think I can do better (than 40 seconds) because I'll be running with faster hurdlers."

Calway said that when he took the Cape Ann League title in the 300 hurdles, he didn't really hit the hurdles on stride. This past Saturday he did much better than that, although he almost lost his top place in the middle of the race.

"I thought I did really well," he said. "At the CAL Meet I missed a lot of the hurdles. On Saturday I only missed one, I hit the others all in stride. I missed one on the straightaway and when I landed I almost fell but I got lucky and caught myself. I think that helped me take a second off my time."

Calway got a good amount of time to rest after the hurdles and he went onto his second event the high jump. Last week he said that he wanted to break the school record which is 6-3, set by both Kevin Burke in 1978 and Peter Arvantis in 1981. Calway cleared 6-2 and said he had a terrible miss on the 6-3 try, but he still walked away with the first place championship in the high jump event.

"The pit was bad so a lot of people weren't jumping all that good," he said. "I missed my first two at six feet then cleared it on my last one and I did the same thing at 6-2. At 6-3, I don't know I just had a bad jump. It was almost standard but I just drifted too close. It was a mess."

With the likes of Attleboro's Bob Carpenter, Greater New Bedford's Willis Macklin and Dighton-Rehobeth's Mike Carr who all cleared 6-6 this weekend, not to mention a handful of jumpers who cleared 6-4 and 6-2, Calway knows it'll be a busy field on Saturday in Worcester in the high jump event at the all-state meet.

"There's so many good jumpers so that's quite a humbling experience," he said. "But I'm shooting for the school record, I'd like to clear 6-3. If I do it on my last chance that would be nice, but if I don't I'm not going to be all that disappointed."

Girls 4x800 relay team takes first at state meet

Historical race on an historic day

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

A month ago the foursome of Michaela Rufo, Michelle Brush, Kim Gillespie and Becky Rufo ran together as an 4x800 relay team and took first at the Class C State Coaches Relay with a time of 10:25.

After winning that race, all four of them vowed that they'd run much better than that when it counted. And all four of them answered their words with their quick legs.

On Saturday afternoon at the Class D State Meet held at Norwell High School, the same four girls not only won the 4x800 relay race, but they chopped 31 seconds off their time running a 9:54 combined time.

They weren't suppose to win considering they were seeded fourth (the best seeded time was 10:02), and now with their win they are tied for the third best time in all of Eastern Mass. heading into the All-State Meet which is Saturday in Worcester.

Until then all four of them would like to savor the moments they shared together on Saturday.

"All I remember is on the last lap I had the lead and I heard everyone yelling at me to pick it up," described Becky, the anchor leg. "I knew I had the lead but I didn't know by how much. Once I heard everyone I just kept going - I wanted to do it for them. And then we did it. It was good teamwork. Once I crossed the finish line, [Michaela, Michelle and Kim] were all jumping around - they were so excited."

But I was so tired I couldn't move [to celebrate]."

As much of a tremendous feat of being Class D (Division 4) state champions in the 4x800 relay, the incredible improvement on their time is actually the better story. All four of them ran a personal best, all four of them knocked off at least five seconds off their previous best times. But it didn't come easy. The team didn't know if Michaela Rufo could run because she was getting sick moments before the race began. Brush also was nursing a leg injury. On top of that the team was seeded third. But that's when teammates come through helping each other out.

"You never can tell what's going to happen when you look on paper," said Gillespie. "We were seeded fourth but we wanted first. We knew we could do a lot better than 10:25. We were pumping each other up."

That certainly seemed to have worked. Michaela was the team's lead-off leg, and despite not eating all day and being ill before the race started, she darted off to a strong start and gave way to Brush with the team in a strong pack with no clear front runners at that point.

"After I got sick I felt better," said Michaela. "But I didn't care how I felt. I was going to run anyways."

Michaela ran her best split of 2:32, but she said although she was so happy that the team won, she wasn't so happy with her performance.

"I had the slowest split," she said. "We all said that we would improve our times and all be under 2:30. I did get a (personal record) but this Saturday I'm hoping to do a lot better than that."

Michaela gave way to Brush who flew out of the gate running a very fast first 400. Co-coach Meghan Donoghue was really concerned with Brush's strong start wondering if the sophomore was going to run out of charge on the second lap. She didn't.

"Usually I'm a head runner," she said. "Sometimes runners just stay in the middle of the pack until the last lap and then go. But I went out strong and I felt good and I knew I would be able to keep it up."

Brush ran a 72 second 400 and gave way to Gillespie as the third leg with the team still hovering around the second and third place as it was still pretty crowded. Brush finished with an 2:27 split which was eight seconds off her previous best time.

Gillespie took the baton and she never stopped. She ended up passing three girls who were in front of her, including the lead runner on her last 100.

"I didn't want to put all of that on Becky's shoulders," she said. "I wanted Becky to have the lead and for her to keep it."

Gillespie ended up running an amazing 2:25 split, passing three runners and giving the baton to Becky who brought home the championship as she held on to the lead over the last two laps.

Becky never looked over her shoulders, rode on the cheering by her teammates and strided her legs into glory and into the promise land as the dynamite Wildcat foursome made school history with their first place finish.

"Last weekend Coach [Kara] Kane asked us if we wanted to go to the states and do our own events - Kim in the 800 and high jump, me in the high jump and 300 hurdles, Michaela in the 200, 400 and high jump and Michelle in the two mile - or just concentrate on the 4x800 relay. We all wanted to do the relay because we knew we had a great shot of winning. The goal was ten minutes but we were so surprised when we found out our time was 9:54. We never ever expected that."

"I think we can even do better this weekend. If we keep working hard in practice and keep doing the 200s and continue to push each other I think we can do well and qualify for New Englands."

The top six places at the All-State will advance to the New Englands.

"It was certainly the highlight of the meet," said Donoghue. "It was really exciting. They all fought very tough and they were all really amazing. It was just incredibly exciting and they were all phenomenal."

A tribute to former coach Fred Bellissimo

Longtime legendary football coach and physical education teacher Fred Bellissimo passed away this past week. Inside on page 20, there is a page of previous articles that were written about him in April of 1978 when the honorary coach retired after 22 years at the post.

State Tourney begins on Thursday

The Wilmington Baseball and softball teams will begin their state tournament play this week. The baseball team will travel to North Reading on Thursday at 3:30 to face the Hornets in a Division 3 North match-up. Should they win that game they will play the winner of North Shore Tech/Wayland with the day, site and time yet to be announced (most likely Sunday or Monday).

The softball team will also play Thursday at 3:30 as they will host the winner of North Andover and Greater Lawrence at WHS beginning at 3:30. Should they win that game, they will play the winner of Tewksbury/Masconomet, two teams they know very well with a day, time and site yet to be announced.

Both Shawsheen Tech teams will also play on Thursday. The baseball team plays highly touted Stoneham Spartans, one of the best teams in the state nevermind Division 2 on Thursday at Stoneham High at 4:00 pm. If Shawsheen can pull off a huge upset, they will play the winner of Tewksbury/Brighton on Monday afternoon, at Tewksbury High if the Redmen win.

The Tech softball team will host either Lynnfield or St. Clement's on Thursday at 3:15. Should they win that game they will play the winner of Whittier Tech/Notre Dame Academy with the day, site and time yet to be announced.

The seedings for the Wilmington boys tennis team has yet to be announced.

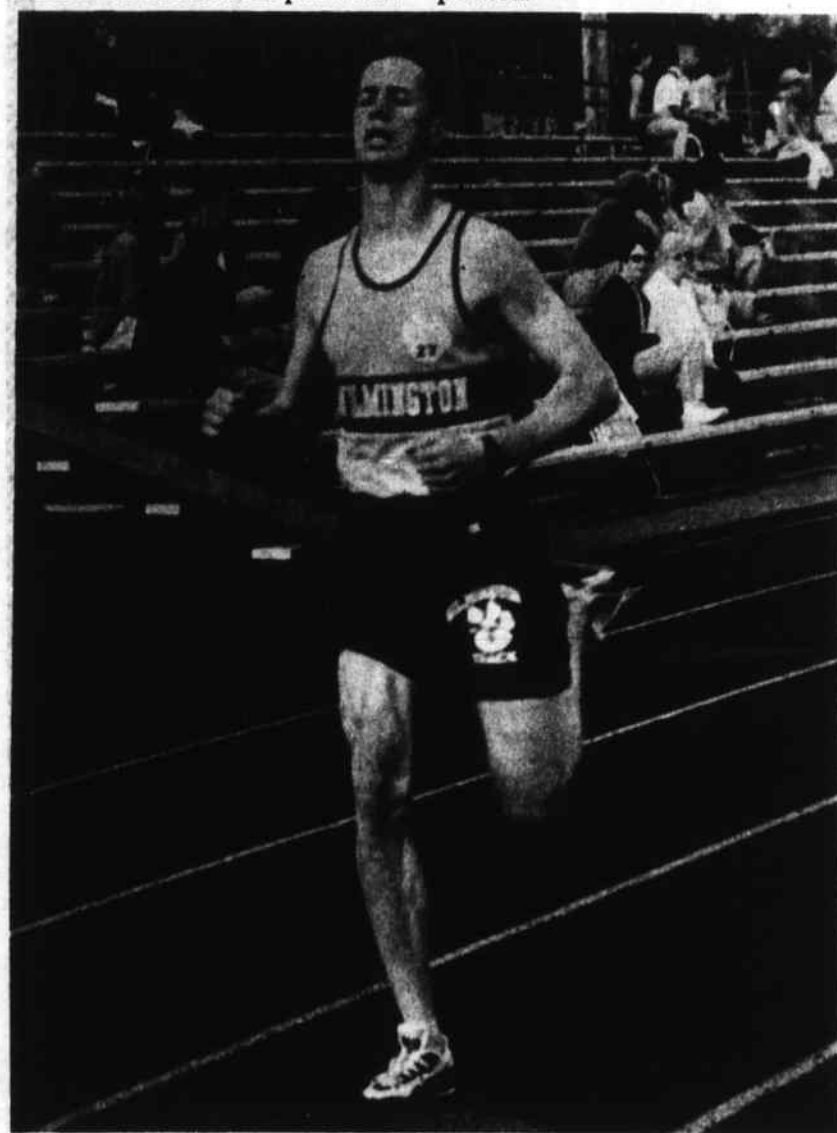

Look inside on pages 18 and 19 for a complete tournament preview on the Wilmington baseball and softball teams.

A few openings at hoop camp

The Wildcat Basketball Camp that has been offered for boys in Wilmington is full. The camp will begin Tuesday, June 19 and end Saturday, June 21.

The girls camp which will run from Monday, July 2 and end Friday, July 6 has a few more openings. If you have any questions, call Jim Tildsley at 978-694-6080 or 978-470-1128.

Steenbruggen, others also compete

Besides the 4x800 relay team taking a first place, several other girls on the track team fared well at the State Class D Meet, although only Becky Rufo placed in the top six. Rufo cleared five feet in the high jump to take sixth place overall. It was just last week when she cleared 5-2 at the Cape Ann League Meet to break the school's record.

Besides Rufo's success, freshman Ashley Steenbruggen ran her personal best in the 300 hurdles finishing at 49.3 seconds for 9th place out of 24 participants. Certainly not bad for a freshman.

Stephanie Quinton tossed 94 feet in the discus to take 10th place out of 29 throwers. Quinton also filled in for Jen Leone as the anchor leg of the seventh place 4x100 relay race. Quinton, Kara Bruce, Nicole Minghella and Catherine Chin all ran strong and all had smooth hand-offs for a solid 63.8 time which was good for seventh place overall.

The 4x400 relay team finished 16th as Melissa Marques, Jen Gillis, Katie Halas and Danielle Spry combined for a time of 4:30. Finally, Heather Dorothy leaped 14-11 in the long jump putting in a fine effort.

College World Series

Kerrigan, Petros pace UML to opening win

Sophomore 1B Allen Mottram (Lawrence, MA/Central Catholic) and sophomore 3B Adam McCusker (Chelmsford, MA/Chelmsford) each belted home runs in the fifth inning as UMass Lowell defeated Central Missouri State, 13-5, Sunday night in the NCAA Division II World Series.

The River Hawks (39-17) making their first appearance in the World Series, advanced to play St. Mary's (TX) Tuesday at 6:30. Result weren't known as of presstime.

St. Mary's defeated Kutztown in the earlier game, 3-0. CMSU (49-9) meets Kutztown in the loser's bracket Tuesday at 2:30.

UML uncorked 18 hits - the most by a CMSU opponent this season.

UML opened the scoring in the fourth inning as senior DH Matt Petros of Tewksbury and sophomore CF Scott Lavalley (Amesbury) each hit RBI singles. The Mules equalized in the bottom of the fifth when junior SS Craig Ring smacked an RBI double a scored on a single by sophomore 2B Boomer Berry.

UML assumed the lead for good in the sixth inning when senior RF Lenny Carter doubled, advanced to third on a single by junior LF Sean Kerrigan (Wilmington) and scored on an error. Kerrigan later scored on a sacrifice fly by Petros.

The River Hawks exploded for five runs in the seventh, led by a three run home run by Mottram and a two run shot by McCusker for a 9-3 cushion. The Mules added two runs in the bottom half of the inning when junior DH Jason Herz scored on a wild pitch and Ring on a sac fly by senior CF Seth Collins.

Sophomore C Matt Tupmangave UML an 11-5 lead in the eighth with a two run blast to right field. UML added two more runs in the ninth when McCusker and Lavalley scored on consecutive errors by CMSU.

Carter led the UML onslaught batting three for four while Petros went 2-for-3 with two RBI. Senior SS Jon Cahill hit 3-for-6 (singles) with a run, while Kerrigan also hit 3-for-5 with two runs. Along with his three-run home run, Mottram batted 2-for-5 (single).

Junior P David Williamson earned his fifth straight win and improved to 5-3 as he scattered eight hits, five runs (all earned), five strikeouts and two walks. Sophomore Dave Ouellette earned his third save of the year when he replaced Williamson in the seventh. Ouellette allowed two hits, no runs or walks while striking out one.

Senior P Cory Kleinfelter suffered his first loss of the season to slip to 12-1. Kleinfelter gave up nine hits, four runs (all earned) and a walk in six innings. Offensively junior LF Clabe Gaines led the Mules, hitting 3-for-4 one RBI while junior RF Jason Deckelbaum went 2-for-4.

'Cats open tourney up against Hornets

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

After missing out on the state tournament last year, the Wilmington High baseball team returns to the Division 3 North Sectional tournament with a game on Thursday, May 31st at North Reading High School at 3:30 pm.

Wilmington has played North Reading twice this season and split with them. Dave Trueira got the win in a 5-3 victory, while in the second game Joe Burns carried a no-hitter into the sixth inning before hitting three consecutive batters and giving up a bases clearing triple. The game went into extra innings and Wilmington lost 4-3.

North Reading is coached by Frank Carey who reached 500 wins last year as a coach. During that season his team was the favorite to win it all but the team got bounced from the tournament in the sectional final against Cape Ann League foe Amesbury. North Reading lost most of its top guns from that team, but still have several starters back.

This has been a very strange, yet good season for the 'Cats. Head coach Dick Scanlon moved most of his players into new positions before the season started, forming a new infield with Andy Campbell at first, Jim Fennelly at second, Joe Ranno at shortstop and Bill Hafner at third. Senior Andy Hackett was supposed to be a utility player off the bench and all he did was lead the entire league in average and was voted the Cape Ann League Player of the Year.

During the course of the season, many players complained of sore arms, while Trueira didn't pitch for an entire month with shoulder tendonitis. Scanlon missed a handful of games with his illness, while he did pick up career win number 300.

On Monday, Gillis moved the defense around a bit giving catcher Scott Buck the day off from behind the plate as he has a sore arm. Gillis moved Fennelly back to catcher, Sinopoli to third, Hafner to shortstop and Ranno to second base. Gillis said he wasn't sure what he was going to do for the tournament after Monday's win but felt very confident with the team especially since they are one of the better hitting teams around, including doing a lot of damage during the regular season with two outs.

"I'm thinking we'll do well," said Gillis. "There's a little sloppiness we have to get rid of but besides that I think we'll be fine."

As for the pitching, it's been very thin at times during the season and it's a question mark right now. Trueira pitched three scoreless innings on Monday after not pitching a month. Joe Burns who is 6-2 pitched 3 innings last Wednesday and 3.2 on Monday and has a very tired arm all season. Josh Howlett pitched six innings against Reading on Saturday and faced one batter on Monday to record his sixth save of the season. Senior Bill Hafner made his debut on Monday after not pitching since his sophomore season and his stuff looked very good, but he struggled with two walks and two hits facing just four batters. Sophomore Ryan Tildsley is another option and he did OK this week in mop up roles against Tewksbury and Reading.

"I'm always going to have a guy ready," said Gillis. "We'll go as far as we can with one guy and bring someone else in until he can't go anymore."

As for the bats Wilmington is loaded. Hafner has slugged five homers this season including four at home. He is a very pure and natural line drive hitter. Andy Hackett has batted over .500, while all-star Jim Fennelly is just about at the .400 mark. Scott Buck and Josh Howlett are very good line drive hitters, and Nick Gennetti certainly can hit the ball hard despite not being the biggest guy on the field. Joe Ranno has been very good at the lead-off spot all season. Trueira, Campbell and Sinopoli are also pretty good hitters.

Big offense continues to send teams packing

By JAMIE POTE

For the third straight league game, the Wilmington High baseball team sent a rival team packing.

After beating both Newburyport and Rockport last week eliminating those two teams from state tournament play, the Wildcats - with a handful of football players who didn't forget the past two years - beat Pentucket Regional, 9-5, on Monday afternoon eliminating the Sachems from post season play.

"Whenever you beat Pentucket in anything it's a good thing," said assistant coach Bob Gillis, who is also an assistant football coach who saw Pentucket eliminate the 'Cats from a Super Bowl birth the past two years. "Especially when you eliminate them from the state tournament," he added.

Gillis used four pitchers to beat Pentucket on a crazy day of off and on rain mixed in with heavy winds and sunshine every now and then. Wilmington scored four runs in the bottom of the sixth to break a 4-4 tie, and the win pushed the 'Cats to 12-8 overall as they ended their regular season on a positive note.

The team will now play North Reading in the first round of the Division 3 North Sectional State Tournament. This is the first tournament game for Wilmington since 1999 when they lost to Ipswich.

"This is a good win for us to get ready for the tournament," said senior left-handed pitcher Joe Burns, who got the win in relief on Monday against Pentucket improving to 6-2 on the season.

Gillis sent Dave Trueira to start the game. Trueira hadn't pitched in almost a month because of shoulder tendonitis. The break really seemed to have helped him as he pitched three scoreless innings looking extremely good. His fastball had a lot of juice on it, while his breaking ball was as good as it was last year. He gave up two harmless singles and a walk in the three innings and left for Bill Hafner, who hasn't pitched since the 1999 season.

Before Hafner entered the game, Wilmington scored four runs in the bottom of the third. Sophomore Bill Sinopoli, who batted ninth, lead-off the inning as he got hit by a Erik Counte fastball. Joe Ranno singled sending Sinopoli to second. With Andy Hackett up, Counte tried to pick-off Sinopoli at second. In a run down, Sinopoli got back to second base safely, and at the same time Ranno alertly moved up to second thinking Sinopoli would be out at second. Sinopoli was ruled safe and Ranno was called out as both runners touched second base simultaneously.

Hackett kept the inning alive with a walk and Hafner loaded the bases when he reached on an error on a groundball to the shortstop. Jim Fennelly got hit by a pitch to force in Sinopoli for the first run of the game. Josh Howlett followed with a two-run single to left field scoring Hackett and Hafner. Scott Buck singled to left on the first pitch he saw scoring Fennelly with the fourth run of the inning and sending Howlett to second.

After an infield pop up, Wilmington once again got caught with poor base running as Howlett was given the steal sign to third base and he was thrown out by ten feet ending the inning which sent eight batters to the plate with three of them banging out hits and four of them scoring.

Heading to the fourth inning, Gillis inserted Hafner onto the mound. Hafner, hadn't pitch in almost two years because of elbow problems from throwing a lot of curveballs during his younger days. Still not allowed to throw a deuce, Hafner has three pitches - a very lively fastball, a change-up and a knuckleball. Hafner faced four batters giving up two walks and two singles before being lifted for Burns. For not pitching in two years without a curveball Hafner looked very good. He wasn't missing by much on a lot of his balls and it looked as if he was being squeezed a little bit by the umpire.

With the bases loaded and one run in, Burns came on and gave up a two-run single off Hafner's glove at shortstop cutting the lead to 4-3. Thereafter Burns ended Pentucket's inning with a pop up, a strikeout, a walk and then a groundout to force the runner at second on a great play in the hole by second baseman Joe Ranno going to his right.

The score stayed the same until the top of the sixth when Pentucket tied the game at 4-4. Burns walked Countie and then tossed a wild pitch to move him to second. The next batter singled Countie in to tie the game.

Wilmington countered in the home half erupting for four runs with one out. Sinopoli reached first on an infield single and Greg Buck ran for him. Ranno walked and Hackett reached on an infield single scoring Greg Buck. Hafner reached on an infield error to load the bases. Fennelly followed and he got hit by a pitch for the second time in the game forcing a run home, while the Pentucket fans voiced their displeasures saying Fennelly stuck his elbow into the pitch. Josh Howlett drove a deep fly ball to the center field warning track scoring Hackett and sending Hafner to third. Scott Buck singled to left field scoring Hafner and sending Fennelly to third. With Nick Gennetti up at bat, Fennelly scored the fifth run of the inning and ninth of the game on a wild pitch.

Leading 9-5 in the top of the seventh, Burns got the first. Pentucket batter Paul Ragaglia to fly out to right. The next three batters all reached base on two singled a walk to load the bases with one out. Pat O'Keefe reached first on a fielder's choice forcing a runner out at second while Lovetti scored making it 9-5. Burns walked Countie to load the bases and Gillis lifted Burns in favor Howlett. The big right-hander tossed nearly six innings in the team's loss on Saturday top Reading, but took the call as the team's closer. He fell behind 3-0 only to come back with two strikes and get the batter on a fly out to Trueira in right field ending the game as Howlett notched his sixth save in the team's 12 wins.

Gillis did some "experimenting" throughout the game. He started Sinopoli at third, moved Hafner

Memo to Burns:

Take four aspirin and call coach in the morning

After every game and inbetween every game, Burns rests his elbow in a bucket of ice to relieve the constant pain.

Wilmington finished the regular season on Monday with an 9-5 win over Rockport at home improving their record to 12-8 overall. Burns picked up his sixth win of the season in eight decisions pitching 3.2 innings of relief. That came four days after he took the loss against Tewksbury giving up nine runs in three innings. And the loss against Tewksbury came just a few days after he tossed 4.2 innings to notch the win over Rockport. And that came just a few days after tossing five innings getting the win over Georgetown.

"I have this elbow thing so [Monday] I was a lot stronger than I was [Wednesday] against Tewksbury," he said. "I had a few days rest so they were trying to get me a few innings before the tournament starts."

A few innings? Burns certainly has racked up his share of innings this season. The Red Sox have Tim Wakefield as their innings eater. A guy who can come in relief to toss three or four innings a few days a week or a guy who can start and toss five or six innings and keep his team in the game. The Wildcats innings eater is Burns. Of the team's 20 games this season, he has pitched in 11 of them. He has notched wins over Lynnfield, Ipswich, Rockport (twice), Georgetown and Pentucket.

His best win came against Ipswich tossing six scoreless innings, while against North Reading he carried a no-hitter into the sixth inning but hit three batters and gave up a three-run triple. He left the game and ended with a no-decision. He also saw a few bad outings included starts against Pentucket, Masconomet and Tewksbury, but for someone who has tossed the amount of innings he has this season that certainly is expected.

"Joe's a great kid, a dynamite kid," said assistant coach Bob Gillis, who is filling in as head coach with the absence of Dick Scanlon. "He works hard, he'll do anything you ask him to. He has pitched a million innings for us this year and he's a big part of the reason why we're [12-8] and heading into the state tournament."

Last year Burns really struggled at the varsity level. His confidence was low, his mechanics weren't sharp and he really struggled getting batters out, and staying in ball games. This year has been an entire different story.

"Last year was tough," said Burns. "But it's nice to come back this year and help the team out. [Being a senior] I came in knowing what to expect at the varsity level. The guys have made a lot of great plays behind me and that's helped out a lot."

Another huge difference has been his mechanics. In February, Scanlon and Burns worked on a few things including Burns bending his knee on his follow through, something he wasn't doing in the past.

"Yeah Dick really helped me," said Burns. "We worked on bending my front foot on my landing and we also worked on having my hand all the way back."

The road back to recovery hasn't been all that easy, or pain-free for Burns. Throwing numerous pitches every game, and many curve balls every game several times a week certainly can take a toll on a high school pitcher. Wilmington came into the season already thin on pitching and had Burns with Dave Trueira and Josh Howlett - a reliever all season except one start the other day against Reading - as their three hurlers. Trueira notched wins against North Reading and North Andover in a five day span, but had to come out against Rockport because of shoulder problems. He didn't pitch for a month leaving Burns and Howlett to toss many innings and that they did.

"It was tough," said Burns. "But we got through it. [Sophomore Billy] Sinopoli came up from the JV team and he's pitched great and has helped us out."

Burns said throughout those few weeks without Trueira his arm and elbow certainly didn't tickle.

"It was killing me for a while," he said. "[Monday] it felt a lot better. I had a few days off and the extra rest seemed to helped."

Burns came into the game with the team leading 4-1 in the fourth inning against Pentucket who was threatening with the bases loaded and no outs. Burns came up a two-run single which went off the glove of the diving shortstop Bill Hafner, but then Burns got out of the inning retiring three of the next four batters. He retired the side in order in the fifth, and gave up a walk, a wild pitch, a single and a run before picking off a runner, and retiring the next two on a strikeout and a groundout to end the sixth. He got into some trouble in the seventh and left with the bases loaded, two outs and one run in for Howlett who retired the last batter to end the game and preserve the win for Burns.

The win was Burns' sixth on the season. The team has 12 wins and he has seven of them. He's pitched in 11 games, tossing just about 50 innings this season.

Later this week the state tournament will begin and no one knows who's going to pitch. Gillis said he's going to do whatever it takes through multiple pitchers as long as the team wins. Burns says that's fine with him.

"Dave [Trueira] looked great [on Monday] and if he's healthy we can [be very successful]," he said. "With me, Howlett, Sinopoli, [Hafner and Ryan Tildsley] we should be fine."

For Joe Burns to be fine, he just has to take four advil and call Coach Gillis the next morning for the OK to go.

from third to shortstop, and Joe Ranno from shortstop to second base, while he moved second baseman Jim Fennelly to catcher as the normal catcher Scott Buck had a sore arm as was limited to the DH role. Ranno was sensational at second base as it seems as if that's his natural position. Sinopoli was solid at third and he reached base all three times, while Hafner has the best throwing arm so putting him at shortstop certainly seems like the right move.

Trueira, who started the game on the mound, moved to left field, first base and right field in the seven innings, while Hackett played left field, second base and left field again. Both Ranno and Hafner switched positions twice.

"It's nice to know that we have a lot of options," said Gillis. "We need to keep all of their bats in the lineup so whatever position we can get these guys we'll do it. I'm not sure what we're going to do in the playoffs, yet."

Earlier in the week Wilmington lost to Reading 12-5, beat Newburyport 12-1 and lost to Tewksbury 12-4. Against Reading, Ranno was 3-for-4 at the plate, while Hafner smacked yet another homerun at Alumni Field, his fourth.

Against Newburyport, Sinopoli notched his second win of his varsity career in three decisions. He's given up four runs in his three starts. He tossed a complete game gem giving up eight hits on two walks and he struck out two. Wilmington scored five runs in the third and six more in the sixth inning to break the game wide open. Hackett and Howlett were both 3-for-4, while, Hafner, Gennetti and Scott Buck all had two hits each.

In the loss against Tewksbury, Burns went the first three innings and was victimized by several poor defensive plays by his teammates. Tewksbury scored a run in the second and eight in the third on six hits, a walk and two errors. Trailing 9-0 after the third inning, sophomore Ryan Tildsley came in and pitched a solid four innings of relief. He gave up three runs on nine hits and he seemed to pitch much better once he moved the ball around.

Tildsley also came on in relief against Reading with a strong effort and Gillis was talking about using him and Howlett in the closer's role come the playoffs.

Ranno and Gennetti had two hits each in the loss to the Redmen.

Notes:

In last week's edition, this writer made a mistake saying Josh Howlett was named to the Cape Ann League all-star team. That's incorrect, just Andy Hackett, who was also the player of the year, and Jim Fennelly were named all-stars. We apologize for the error.

Softball team gets a bye; could face familiar foe on Thursday

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

After capturing the Cape Ann League and completing an 18-2 regular season, the relatively young, yet very good Wilmington High softball team enters the post season play with a brand new slate. Gone is their fourth ranking in the Boston Globe Eastern Mass. Poll. Now it's a new season with a lot still to prove.

On Thursday, May 31st, Wilmington will try to at least duplicate last year's run to the Division 2 Sectional Semi-Final game with an home afternoon contest (3:30 start) against the winner of North Andover/Greater Lawrence.

Unless there's a huge upset, Wilmington should play North Andover led by pitcher Lauren Otto, a fireballer whom they beat earlier this season behind a gem of a performance by 'Cats pitcher Kate Sughrue.

If the Wildcats beat either North Andover or Greater Lawrence in the first round, they will play, get ready for this, the winner of Tewksbury/Masconomet in the quarterfinal round. It was just a year ago when Wilmington defeated Danvers in the first round and then handed Tewksbury, the number one seed, a 2-1 loss at their field eliminating the team who had beaten every single Merrimack Valley Conference team.

Wilmington played Tewksbury this season and won 6-3. They also played and beat Masconomet twice, in the first game of the season, and most recently a 2-1 gem by Sughrue.

Last year Wilmington beat Danvers and Tewksbury and lost to Melrose in the sectional semi-finals at April Field. If Wilmington can get by their first two opponents they would face any of the teams including number two seed Swampscott, Pentucket, Gloucester or Stoneham. Wilmington, the third seed, wouldn't match up against Concord-Carlisle, the favorite to win the sectionals, until the sectional final should the Patriots get by their teams which include Westford/Salem, East Boston/Burlington, Saugus/Arlington/Newburyport/Arlington Catholic.

If Wilmington is successful they just have to keep up their style of play: get the great pitching they've been getting all season long by Sughrue. But everything can't go on her shoulders. If she's done what she has done all season long the team has a chance to win every tournament game.

They also have to play their solid defense. They have to record outs, especially the big ones with runners on base. With first baseman Colleen Cahill at first, the team automatically is a good defensive team.

They also have to put the bat on the ball which is something they struggled with in the loss to Melrose. Wilmington has a lot of contact batters, and they also have several very powerful bats spread throughout the line-up. As long as they don't press and make contact, Wilington usually finds a way to beat out the infield hits and beat out teams.

They have to continue their short game of bunting and slapping. Coach Paul Lyman has been a tremendous coach in terms of teaching the short game and turning many hitters into lefties so they can bunt and slap and get to first base quicker. Michele Lemos is by far the team's best bunter/slapper and she'll be doing it all tournament with the heavy hitters behind her.

Finally, there's certainly been a few games over the years that Lyman has pulled out with victories with some calls, and there's probably a few losses he'll take credit for also. But when he's on his game, he can win a game by himself which he ultimately just about did last year. Wilmington has won many games by its aggressive base running and the approach will and should stay the same in the post season.

Should be a lot of fun.

Sughrue ready to lead 'Cats in playoffs

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Katelyn Sughrue certainly doesn't get a lot of ink from the major Boston papers. She also didn't get too much respect from the Cape Ann League when she wasn't picked the Cape Ann League Player of the Year.

From the last four games of last year to the 19 games she pitched in this year, she certainly deserves a lot more than being called a great pitcher for the 18-2 Wilmington High softball team who is gearing up the post season play later this week.

In her last two seasons on the mound, Sughrue is 25-6 with an 0.79 ERA. She's pitched 221.1 innings giving up just 25 earned runs, while she has struck out 175. Last year she and Robin Mainini combined to toss 34 scoreless innings from the last two games of the regular season to the sectional semi-final game against Melrose.

This year she has tossed six shutouts on her own, been a part of seven shutouts, and had a string of 19 scoreless innings earlier in the season. On top of that in her last four games, she has given up 2 runs in 26 innings, including wins over Cape Ann League rivals Amesbury, Newburyport and Masco as well as tossing a five inning no-hitter against Georgetown last Wednesday.

Stats wise she's incredible. But stats can only take a player so far. On the mound, she's so tough mentally. She is a very focused, determined pitcher who certainly gets the most out of her ability. She has a lot of fun while she pitches as she isn't the type who has her entire life focused around the game. On the same hand, that doesn't take away from her dedication to the sport which is astounding. All throughout the off-season she constantly was throwing to improve on her speed, location and command of her five pitches.

She certainly isn't blessed in size, so seeing her whip the ball like she does is amazing. She enters this post season with nothing to prove since those who have seen her know that she's one of the best pitchers around. Yet, she doesn't take anything for granted, she's not done impressing others.

She has led the team to its first Cape Ann League title since 1997, while she has also led the team to its fourth seed in Monday's Boston Globe Eastern Mass Poll of the top twenty softball teams in the state. She says she knows there's pressure on her in the post season, but what pressure can be on her since everything she accomplishes from here on in is absolute gravy?

"Yeah, there's pressure. I just try to do my best," she said.

As for her incredible focus, she said, "I think I'm pretty good with that. If I walk a batter, I feel confident enough to come back and strikeout the next batter, or let the batter put the ball in play because our defense has been so good."

Wilmington has just two losses this season and Sughrue hopes she can avenge one of them in the post-season, although that match-up against Concord-Carlisle is a few games away. Wilmington faced CC who is 20-0 on the season and lost 11-0. CC hit Sughrue pretty hard that game, as that was one toughest game in her career.

"I've had my moments of having bad games," she said. "It's annoying."

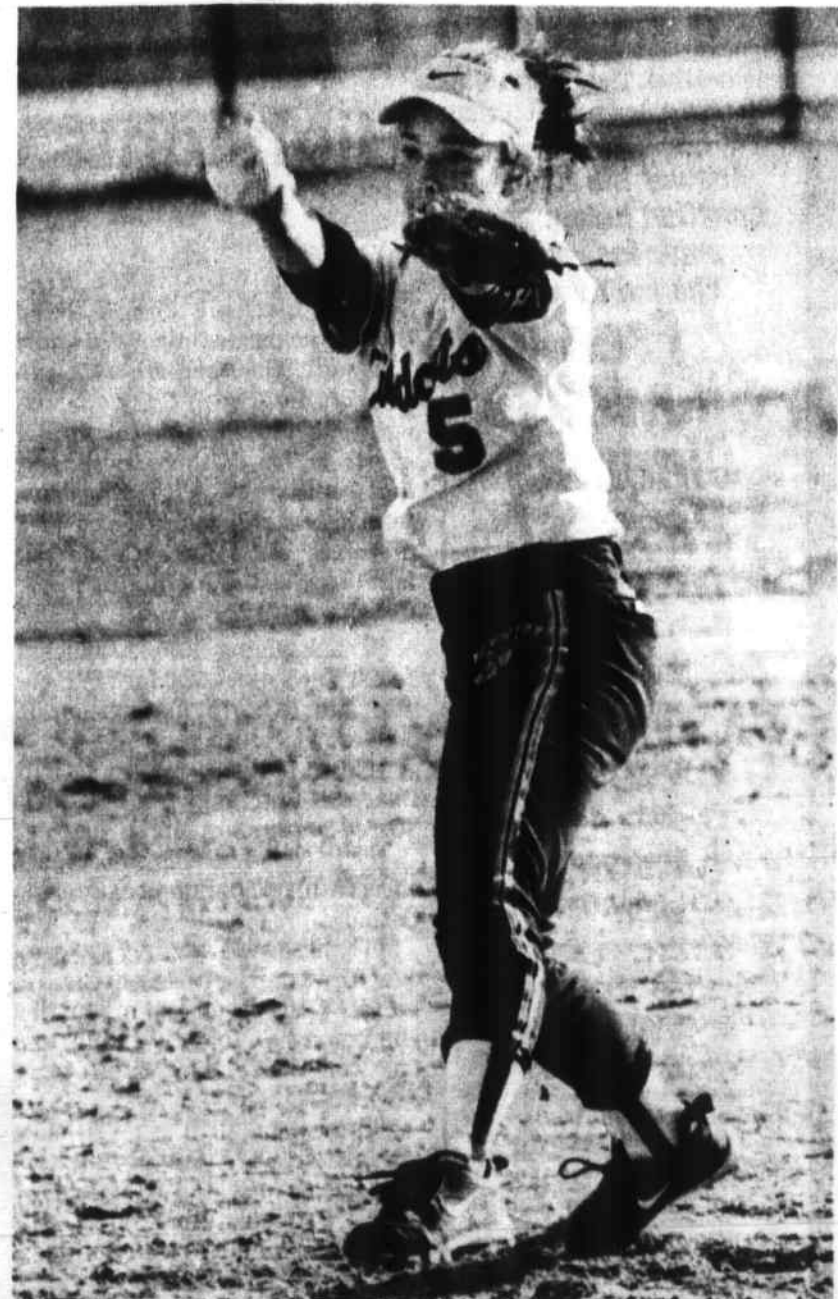

After struggling in the CC game, Sughrue could have packed it in. Instead, she turned her pitching up a few notches. She finished the last nine games with 7 wins including huge ones over North Reading, Masconomet, Newburyport, Tewksbury and Masconomet. Her second loss came against Manchester when she came out of the game leading 6-0 and went back into the game to give up a hit which tied the game at 6-6 in the same inning. The game went into extra inning and an error caused Manchester to win the game.

After that she came back to win those very important league games giving the team its league title.

Now she hopes the team can turn up its play a few notches for the tournament.

"I think we're going to do fine," she said. "Concord-Carlisle will probably be in the [sectional] final and we hope we're there with them. If we do what we've been doing all season, we should be there. If we put the ball on the ball, I think we'll do fine."

"We did awesome last year and we had so much fun. The two years before that we lost in the first round and that was so sad. Last year was exciting when we kept winning."

Fred Bellissimo - Wilmington's winning coach

*Former Wilmington High School football coach Fred Bellissimo passed away this past Thursday. On April 5th 1978 edition of the Town Crier, it was written by Rick Cooke, the former sports editor of this newspaper, that Bellissimo was stepping down from his coaching position at WHS after 22 years. Here's the first of three stories Rick Cooke had written about the legendary Wildcat coach.

The man coached winning football teams - consistently. Consistently at a school that for years had been dwarfed by other schools in terms of total enrollment. Yet he was often the subject of criticism coming from players, fans and the opposing coaches who thought that he might have run up the score just a bit against their teams over the years when he knew he was capable of doing it.

Fred Bellissimo, head football coach at Wilmington High School for 22 years and a member of the "old school" of coaching thought, posted his written letter of resignation last week to bring to an end a career coaching record that will most likely stand up for his lifetime.

Bellissimo was gruff, often downright rude - but he really didn't give a damn if he was liked. He was there to win football games and to give the Wilmington High School athlete a shot at success. Considering his coaching style, I was surprised that he chose to bow out so quietly.

He refused comment when a Town Crier correspondent called him last week, saying only that he felt that after 22 years he had enough. He talked it over with his family and the decision was made. You can speculate as to his reasons why - but won't until he chooses to talk about the reasons why he called it quits - if he ever does. I have my hunches, but I don't dare risk the wrath of a man whom I always respected as a football coach of the highest quality.

I played for him once - being in the 1972 All-Star game when it was still a battle between the Lowell

Stars and an MVC contingent. My first impression at the initial practice session for the game was - this guy was organized and he was from the "do it this way because I'm the boss," school. Coach Bellissimo didn't appear to be open to suggestions. He listened however, and he didn't miss much when it came down to winning or losing a football game.

If memory serves me, we practiced for two weeks before playing Lowell and pounding out a 32-0 win. For an All-Star group we were well prepared. The late Ray Riddick didn't particularly care for the score that helped alter the game's format to affect more balance. It was a lopsided score with the winners having the horses. What could Bellissimo do but play everyone - and everyone played well to account for the final score. Bellissimo just won games - period - that's the bottom line. He'd grind you to finesse you to death if that's what it took to win. He helped put Wilmington High School football on the map with the help of many fine gridiron athletes who came down the Wildcat pike.

People have criticized the football team as being too important in Wilmington. The reason that the sport gained such support was that the sporting society says win - and when you do win the sport picks up interest.

When you don't win they label you a loser and a replacement with fresh winning ideas is knocking on the athletic director's door for that all-important interview that could land him your job. Bellissimo took a handful of moderately talented players who were outweighed by many teams in the late 1950's and began molding a winning spirit that typified the Wildcat teams throughout the 60's and 70's.

In 1956, Bellissimo's first year at the helm, the team didn't win a game in seven tries. Five years later they went undefeated and were Lowell Suburban Champs. The little school in Wilmington had come of age. They wouldn't stop coming for most of the 1960's - the exception being a brief slump in the years 1964 and 1965. In 1962 they were 9-0 and champs again.

The rebuilding road was rough until 1966 when the team was 6-2 and the next year Bellissimo spotted a freshman who would help him put Wilmington (and the name Esposito) on the lips of many college recruiters four years later.

In 1967 freshman Mike Esposito wore number 85 and played end while erasing Chelmsford's Arnie Hultzberg's record with 20 points after touchdowns.

The team was 8-0-0 and ready for a four-year period where they went 31-3-1. Bellissimo's reputation as a winning coach was firmly established around not only the Merrimack Valley, but Massachusetts as well.

The Wildcats were MVC co-champs with Dracut in the first year of the conference in 1968 - a year when they marched to an 8-1-0 record. Only an upset by Tewksbury on Thanksgiving morning the next year kept the team from another title. They finished at 6-2-1 before the team that could arguably be called the best in Bellissimo's reign romped to a title.

The 1970 club piled up a 9-0-0 record and rolled to the MVC championship behind Esposito's record breaking season that broke Swampscott's halfback Dick Jauron's career scoring record (450 points), and a rock ribbed defense. It wasn't unusual to see Esposito wind his way through opposing defenses for 20 or 30 points per game. Bellissimo had that offensive weapon that every coach dreams about.

He also had the tough Wilmington kids who seemed to feel right at home with his disciplinary coaching style that was par for the gridiron course during the 1960's when a portly fellow in Green Bay was winning NFL championships with his own well planned style of sweet execution and conditioning through mild forms of torture.

In 1971 the team slumped to 5-3-1, but Bellissimo gained a measure of revenge for Tewksbury's upset in 1969 when his 'Cats battled the Redmen to a 0-0 standoff in the mud at the Center School Field. The tie prevented us and I say us because I was a tackle on that team - from grabbing a piece of the MVC title.

The next year another great Bellissimo team (9-0-0) rolled to the title with the Turkey Day game being a 13-8 squeaker over Tewksbury after we had held an 8-0 lead into the fourth quarter. I'll never forget the frustration of losing to a team - and a coach I respected so much, but I knew we could beat it we executed perfectly.

This is not simply post-resignation respect either. I did respect Fred, and teams did have to execute flawlessly to top the Wildcats in their best years.

You made a mistake and bant - they were all over you. The 1972 team capitalized on opponents' flubs all year with a clawing defense that was one of the school's best. We fumbled twice - the Wildcats scored twice. Chalk up another loss to Wilmington's killer instinct that was more than slightly due to Bellissimo's coaching personality.

Any good coach will correct mistakes with good instruction, but Fred was more like a drill instructor, teaching boys to be men while barking out Saturday's game plan in a style that became synonymous with Wilmington football.

Bellissimo and his team fought the rising Andover football tide in the years following the 1972 title. The 1973 season was a success by normal football standards at 7-2-0, but for the Wilmington football fans who had grown accustomed to dominance often times second place was a big letdown.

That Wilmington club was a strong team as its 34-0 Turkey Day embarrassment handed to Tewksbury attests. Thank God I had graduated that summer. I was saved from another beating at the hands of yet another Bellissimo coached team that just kept coming at you, pile driving its way to a win when a pass could have been so much subtler.

Subtler was not one of FORMER WILDCAT FOOTBALL COACH FRED BELLISSIMO OF 22 YEARS, passed away this past week. Here he is during the 1976 season on the sidelines with one of his players.

Bellissimo's qualities - except last week when people in Tewksbury and surrounding MVC towns were whispering "did you hear about Fred resigning?" It was unusual for a man who coached boys so aggressively to bow out so quietly and peacefully, without the least bit of fanfare that a coach of 22 years is entitled to.

His last three autumns at the helm were a tribute to his coaching style and the kids who adapted to it. Without one of the best gridiron teachers in the state (assistant Bob Aylward who had taken the Tewksbury job) Bellissimo regrouped his coaching staff and finished 4-3-3 in 1974 with a team that had some promising sophomores on the rise.

Bellissimo's ability to cope with raw, but talented sophs who were still learning was put to test over three years and it paid off handsomely with people like Jim Stewart, Sierraza, Dave Rounds and Gordie Fitch triggering another Wildcat title run in 1976.

The 5-2-2 mark of 1975 was not good enough to match Andover who appeared ready to be the new dominant force in the Merrimack Valley.

Wilmington resurfaced the next year (1976) when they survived several nagging injuries and a lack of experienced players on the bench to mold a 9-1-0 record that meant a co-championship with Tewksbury. Yet another Wilmington team went into a big game mentally and emotionally prepared as Wilmington ripped the Redmen 32-0 Thanksgiving morning at WHS to grab a piece of the MVC title and a berth in the Division II Schoolboy Super Bowl at Boston University.

While the Redmen, under the emotional Aylward, were nervous and perhaps over prepared, Bellissimo's Wildcats truly reflected their coach's personality on that morning - laying under control, savage along the line, and with supreme confidence that this smaller Tewksbury team didn't belong on the same field with them. They didn't - and Bellissimo had done it again, winning the big game and holding off the challenge of a young coach (Aylward) who admits that he benefited from his years under Bellissimo. "We had a job to do and we didn't," said Bellissimo afterward. Business as usual in Wilmington.

The team dropped a 20-12 decision to Lynn Classical in the Super Bowl game - the last battle for the outstanding crop of seniors who had blossomed in three years under Bellissimo.

Last year the young Wildcats were 4-5-1 and local critics proclaimed the offense to be too conservative with the team being shut out three times and scoring just one touchdown on three other occasions. The first sub-500 season since 1965 was a disappointment to the locals who have come to expect so much of WHS football, but the truth of the matter was that last fall was the first stage of a rebuilding process similar to 1974.

It's true that Wilmington doesn't have the large numbers of talented male athletes (or female athletes for that matter) to draw from as does Chelmsford or Billerica. The Lions have a male enrollment of 1,062 while Billerica has 897 boys enrolled. Wilmington's 436 ranks above only Dracut (462) and Lawrence (393) in male totals. There are intangible factors that make up the difference between a winner and a loser, however. Bellissimo was one of those intangibles. The Wilmington athletes are the other.

I do not believe that Bellissimo resigned because he felt that he didn't have a chance to build a winning football team again because of the numbers game. That situation would never be enough to discourage Fred whose confidence in his ability to coach a winner was so great that he probably thought that he could have fought a draw against the rising enrollment tide around the conference.

Often times a draw is not good enough, especially when you have a winning tradition that at times may seem more of a haunt than an added bonus. Whomever fills the coaching vacancy at Wilmington High can be sure that he will be walking in the shadow of the winning tradition established by Bellissimo.

Like him or not. Damn him or praise him as a high school Lombardi. Whether you liked his style or not - the man is a hell of a high school football coach.

FORMER WILDCAT FOOTBALL COACH FRED BELLISSIMO passed away this past week. Here he is from 1976.

After 22 years of coaching Bellissimo hangs it up

*Former Wilmington High School football coach Fred Bellissimo passed away this past Thursday. On April 5th 1978 edition of the Town Crier, it was written by Rick Cooke, the former sports editor of this newspaper, that Bellissimo was stepping down from his coaching position at WHS after 22 years. Here's another one of the three stories Rick Cooke had written about the legendary Wildcat coach.

Wilmington High School football coach Fred Bellissimo submitted a formal letter of resignation to the school committee last Wednesday night after 22 years at the helm of the tradition laden Wildcats. The committee has not read the letter as yet, but it is likely that it will be read come the next regular meeting April 12.

Bellissimo began his coaching career at Wilmington High School in 1956 after graduating from Belmont High School and the University of Notre Dame. He played football, basketball and baseball at Belmont before moving to the Fighting Irish with whom he played football and baseball while helping to coach the school's baseball team. He graduated with a degree in physical education from Notre Dame in 1954 before taking a job as a physical education instructor at the Waltham Boys Club. He originally lived in Belmont before moving to Wilmington.

The veteran Wildcat leader compiled a 121-62-15 record in his 22 years as the school's football coach. His 1960, 61, 70 and 72 teams were undefeated with the Wildcats rolling up a 23 game unbeaten streak in the years 1960-63. The Cats won Class C titles in 1967 and 70 and were the small school champs in 1962. They were also the Division III champs in 1970. Bellissimo's teams won seven titles - the last being the Merrimack Valley Conference co-championship in 1976. Other championship years for Wilmington High School were 1972, 1970, 1968, 1967, 1962 and 1961. Last year was Bellissimo's first losing season (4-5-1) in 12 autumns.

Bellissimo's plans are to remain as a physical education instructor at Wilmington High School. Speculation will not start as to who will be his coaching successor.

Youth travel soccer

The Wilmington BU10A travel soccer team played at home last weekend against Concord. Kevin Moran began as goal keeper with sweeper Ryan Searles helping out on defense. The first half proved to be equally matched with nice ball movement from Colin Wilson, Jason Pereira and Jonathan Spurr. Scott Bonica and Michael Scola burned up the front line, playing very hard to win the ball. Unfortunately, the half closed out as a scoreless tie.

Just as the second half had gotten underway, Concord was able to score during a pile up in front of our goal. Wilmington quickly applied their own pressure, with Moran joining Kenny Vassallo, Stephen Stewart and Justin DiRienzo on offense. Rick Belding kept our defensive zone clear, denying Concord another scoring opportunity. With moments left to play, Wilmington had a goal called back due to an earlier blown whistle. Time ran out before we were able to tie this one up.

Final score, Wilmington 0; Concord 1.

Girls Under 10B

With the entire team present, the Wilmington Girls U10B Soccer Team won their fourth shutout of the season by defeating Burlington 4-0. Goal keepers for the game were Lauren Nasiff and Lisa Rooker.

During the first half, a good offensive team play lead to the first Wilmington goal scored by Jenelle Femino. Wilmington continued to dominate the field with an open net goal that was run in by Kaitlyn Foy.

Fantastic plays by midfielders Lisa Rooker and Stefani Warnick along with support from Theresa MacMahon kept the ball on the Burlington side of the field.

In the second half, a powerful breakthrough charge against the goal by Kaitlyn Foy, Amanda Church and Devon Murphy lead to a goal by Danielle Polcari. Jenelle Femino solidified the lead scoring the final goal of the game. Eri Conway and Stephanie Woods also played well contributing to another Wilmington victory.

The Wilmington Wildcats U10B Girls soccer team played North Reading on a rainy Tuesday evening. The Wildcats knew they faced a tough opponent having lost to them by one goal in the fall.

After a slow start, the intensity rose quickly as both sides realized a win would require superior effort. Slippery conditions and physical play resulted in numerous spills onto soaking wet grass.

Exceptional midfield play by Lisa Rooker, Lauren Nasiff, Stefani Warnick and Devin Murphy kept the No. Reading attack off balance and created numerous opportunities for the forwards. Amanda Church sprung out on a breakaway, but impressive defensive speed by No. Reading forced a crossing pass which just sailed wide of Kaitlyn Foy.

No. Reading countered with their own breakaway and made it count by blasting the ball over the head of a defenseless Lauren Nasiff.

In the second half, Danielle Polcari and Jenelle Femino almost tied the game shooting point blank in heavy traffic in front of the goal. sweepers Theresa MacMahon and Stephanie Woods were tested many times and kept the pressure on by consistently handling the ball cleanly and driving it down the field. Erin Conway's solid goaltending kept the game within reach, but the Wildcats could not punch the ball through the crowd of No. Reading players who always seemed to be bunched in front of the net. Despite a tremendous effort, the Wildcats lost 1-0, dropping their record to 4-1-1.

Under 12 Boys

The Wilmington U12 Boys 1 soccer team hosted the Reading Rockets on a sunny Saturday afternoon. Wilmington displayed some fine ball control early on with Eric Legro and Justin Patrie setting up Tim Kent for the first shot of the game. But continued applying pressure with a streaking C.J. Jeannette descending upon the Reading goalie in pursuit of a long lead pass that the goalie was able to snatch up an instant before Jeannette connected. A brief foray across midfield by Reading was stymied when Shane Foley pilfered the ball and clamy woudn hsi way through several dazed defenders back into Wilmington's offensive end. There, Chris Azevedo resumed the attack with a charge up the middle, blasting a shot that struck the post. A nimble Justin Patrie pounced on the rebound and knocked in the first goal of the game.

Reading attempted to respond but again was thwarted by Wilmington's near impenetrable defense with Derek Hanson stealing a pass and redirecting the ball back to the front line. There Dana Steenbruggen turned on his after burners and drilled a shot that bounced off the crossbar. Despite dominating the action, Wilmington held a slim one goal lead at the half.

Wilmington began the second half again exerting its offensive muscle. A nice lead pass from Kent to a chargin Mark Walsh turned into a race between Walsh and the Reading goalie. All three arrived at the same point simultaneously. The force of Walsh's shot overpowered the goalie with the ball slowly heading to then net until intercepted by a defender at the last second. Moments later Eric Legro stole the ball and launched a long range missile from 40 yards out that sailed over a leaping goalie to put the Wildcats up 2-0. It appeared Wilmington would extend the lead to three when Greg Stewart teed up a free kick from 30 yards away.

But a fine block by an intrepid Reading defender kept the game close. Closer still, when Reading was able to convert a corner kick into its first goal of the game, cutting the lead in half. Emboldened by his success, the Rockets blazed up field again, but this time Zach Church stepped in to quell their latest surge. Back came Wilmington, with Brendan Sheehan lofting a perfect lead pass to Justin Patrie who pounded in the third Wildcat goal.

With a two goal advantage, it was up to the defense to hold off a furious barrage by a valiant Reading squad. First, Danny Patterson broke up a three on one breakaway with a long kick back across midfield. Next, Zach Ciampa out reaced a Rocket to the ball to truncate another Reading attack. Reading finally managed a shot on goal, but a soaring Pat Ryan was able to grab the ball just before entering the top right corner of the net. The last Reading attempt in the waning moments was snuffed out by the versatile Matt Brooks, keeping the final score at 3-1 for another Wildcat victory.

Protecting yourself... Lightning

By PAUL FEELY

What is lightning?

The scene is all too familiar for anyone who enjoys participating in outdoor activities during the spring and summer months. You are out on the golf course, kayaking across the lake, or simply out for an afternoon hike to the top of a local peak.

From the horizon you see them slowly making their way across the clouds - thick, dark clouds that can only mean one thing: a storm is moving in and, when combined with the summer heat and humidity, possibly thunder and lightning.

On average, lightning causes more casualties each year in the United States than any other storm-related phenomena (with the exception of floods). Each year many people are hurt or killed as a direct result of lightning, and many of these tragedies occur because they have been given wrong information about how to protect themselves during a lightning storm.

With the warm weather starting us in the face for the next few months, Middlesex East this week presents this primer on lightning: what it is and what causes it, what happens to a human when they interact involuntarily with it, and what you can do to protect yourself and your family members when you see that first bright crackle of light in the sky.

According to statistics put forth by the University of Florida, most lightning strikes occur in the afternoon, with 70 percent of those strikes taking place between noon and 6 pm, when the atmosphere is very warm and moist. As air temperatures rise, evaporation increases, sending more moisture into the air. The moisture forms fluffy cumulus clouds, and as they become saturated they form dark cumulus nimbus clouds, or thunderstorm clouds, which look like an anvil and can reach to a height of 40,000 feet or more.

The upper part of the cloud develops a positive electrical charge, while the lower level creates a negative charge. Because the air is a poor conductor of electricity, the flow of electricity between the two charges is restricted. At the same time a similar process is taking place on the ground, with positive charges taking up position on the highest object around, in an attempt to reach the negative charges in the clouds.

A lightning bolt occurs when the difference between the positive and negative charges becomes so great that it overwhelms the resistance of the insulating air and forces a conductive path between the positive and negative charges. The electrical potential in a lightning bolt can be enormous, with a single volt reaching as much as 100 million volts.

What happens when someone is struck by lightning?

Is lightning attracted to testosterone? Who knows, but statistics show that men are struck by lightning four times more often than women are. Findings from a study entitled "Demographics of US Lightning Casualties and Damages from 1959-1994" by Ronald Holle and Raul Lopez of the National Severe Storms Laboratory and E. Brian Burran of the National Weather Service, men account for 84 percent of lightning fatalities and 82 percent of injuries. One encouraging fact is that the number of deaths and injuries from lightning strikes has been dropping over the past 35 years, which the study attributes to better forecasts and more awareness about the problem.

The National Weather Service recorded 3,239 deaths and 9,818

ANTHONY MANCONI

Have you received a, "Dear John," or "Dear Jane," letter? Well, don't let a broken love affair, "Break" you. Remember, there's no "one and only" in this world for me, or anyone else, so pick up the pieces and start anew.

When the husband of a dear friend of mine died, the poor woman was heart broken. She had inscribed on his tombstone, "My Light Has Gone Out." She then became a veritable hermit-a-recluse. A year later at a wedding reception that she couldn't refuse to attend, she met a gentleman who swept her off her feet. Months later when he proposed marriage to her, she asked her clergyman, "What do I do now, shall I have the words, "My Light Has Gone Out", erased from the tombstone?" "No," He replied, "Just have inscribed under them, "I have just struck another match!"

Owen McGaffigan's beautiful daughter Florence, gave up a potential Hollywood movie career, to marry Jimmy Fanikos. Jimmy is a pharmacist, philosopher and amateur comedian. A woman walked in the drugstore and asked him, what she could take if she was, "Rundown?" Jimmy smiled and said, "By all means take the license plate number down."

A panhandler asked Roger Moore Sr. for a handout. Roger dug deep in his pocket and came up with a thin dime. He gave it to the poor soul, then asked, "Tell me, how did you happen to sink so low?" The poor old chap looked down at the coin then said to Robert, "Sir, I guess because I was extravagant, like YOU!"

Angelo Quaganti said to me, "after reading your Woodchips columns, I propose that a statue of you be built and placed in a park. It will tend to keep the

My wife Kathy is on a "Sea Food" diet. Every time she sees food she starts eating. I took her out to dinner last night and I asked the restaurant manager, "Do you serve crabs?" He looked us over then said, "sit right down, I'll have a waiter bring some that will feel right at home with both of you."

Donald Bicchieri said, "cows may come and cows may go but the Bull in Woodchips goes on forever!" Life is Fragile folks, handle it with care.

Officer Richie Serino rang a doorbell, then rapped on the door. When he gets no response, Richie shouted through the mail slot, "Ma'am, your husband has been run over by a steamroller!" "Okay" a voice replied, "slide him in under the door. I'm in the bath and can't come out right now thank you."

The beautiful bank teller Janet Mugford said to me, "Before I cash this check for you, can you identify yourself?" "Sure," I replied, "have you got a mirror?" Here," she said, "look into it and I hope you don't break it."

I came home from work and found a ransom note in my mailbox that said, "We have kidnapped your mother-in-law. Bring $500 by Tuesday or we are bringing her back Thursday."

I told Bob Flagg (my mailman), "don't worry about my dog biting you, can't you see he's wagging his tail?" "Oh yeah?" I also see a wild gleam in his eyes. I don't know which, end to believe!"

I remember bringing an apple to my teacher. Today, my kids are sending their teachers BANANAS!

I asked by Aunt Nora how many cups of tea she drinks a day? "It's none of your business" she snapped, "but, if you must know. I drink eight cups of tea a day." "Gee!" I shouted "that's Salada Tea!"

When George Gould was a letter carrier, he saw a young boy trying desperately to reach a doorbell button. George rushed up the steps and said, "here kid let me help you." George gave the button a long generous push. Then the kid shouted, "Gee thanks Mister, now let's run like heck!"

At a burial ground a clergyman said, "will someone say something 'Good' about the early departed before we commit him to his eternal rest?" No one said a word. A perturbed clergyman exclaimed, "we are NOT leaving until someone says something good about Harry!" After a few moments of silence, someone in the rear of the gathering shouted, "His brother was, 'WORSE!'"

NECC hosts Concerts on the Lawn

Northern Essex Community College will continue its six year tradition of providing free, family musical entertainment this summer with its Concerts on the Lawn Series. This year the series will feature blues, jazz and one group that does a little bit of everything!

The concert series will kick off on June 28 with bluesman Peter Parcek and his band. Parcek is a virtuoso guitarist and gripping singer with a varied and impressive background. He and his band perform both original and traditional blues standards as well as a mix of rockabilly, surf, country and boogie-woogie. Parcek will feature songs from his recently released CD "Evolution" which offers a diverse collection of blues-based songs that incorporate various roots styles.

The concert series continues on July 19 with The Classiques who play Motown, Top 40, Big Band, Oldies, 70s Dance and more. A perennial crowd pleaser, The Classiques are the only group that performs annually at the series.

The All Star Jazz Ensemble will perform on Thursday, August 16. Comprised of excellent musicians, many on staff at the Berkeley School of Music, this six piece group will have the audience swaying to classical jazz and swing strains from the Duke Ellington and Count Basie era to the more progressive sounds of the Be-Bop generation. This collection of musical talent should not be missed.

All concerts are held on Thursday nights from 6:30 to 8:30. Concerts are free of charge and will be held rain or shine.

Performances will be held on the lawn of the college's Haverhill Campus, just to the right of the flagpole inside the main entrance in good weather. In case of rain, concerts will be held on the top floor of the Student Center (Bldg. F).

For additional information, contact Linda Brantley, Director of College & Community Relations, at 978-556-3789.

"This year marks the 50 year anniversary for the Big Sisters Association of Greater Boston," notes the "Lynnfield Villager."

"In Lynnfield, there is a woman who has been a Big Sister for 33 of those 50 years."

"What started out as a way to help someone less fortunate than herself, turned into a 'lifetime commitment' for Charlene Terranova."

"Terranova, of 774 Summer Street, and her husband Carl both came from big families and every weekend they were doing family things such as barbecues and birthday parties. The Terranovas wanted to offer this environment to someone who was unable to be as lucky."

High achievers in Wilmington and Tewksbury

"Patricia Pelosi and Susan Sinclair, both of Wilmington, and Judy Fittery of Tewksbury, were honored for their environmental achievements in a special Earth Day ceremony that took place at Faneuil Hall in Boston," notes the "Tewksbury Town Crier."

"The three were selected out of 150 trans-New England candidates to receive the Environmental Protection Agency's 31st annual Environmental Achievement Award, which recognizes outstanding environmental advocates who have made a significant contribution toward preserving and protecting natural resources."

"In addition to these awards, each woman received a citation from the State House and a letter from House Speaker Thomas Finneran, who wrote, 'through your actions, you have truly made a difference and saved many lives.'"

"Though hard-won, these accolades do not mark for these three women the final destination, but rather, a significant landmark in a journey of unflagging devotion and tireless community service."

"Although it is gratifying to have our efforts taken seriously, after all that we have been through to get to this point, this is only the beginning," says Fittery. "We've got a long way left to go with this thing yet."

"The area of their studies is a vast one, with acreage encompassing Rocco's landfill in South Tewksbury and the wetlands behind McDonald Road in Wilmington....

"In addition to all of her advocacy work, Kittery is currently writing a novel, entitled 'Toxic Nightmare,' so named 'because this whole issue is like a bad dream, only when you wake up, it doesn't go away.'"

"Despite times when she has felt like giving up, Fittery says, 'I was born and raised in Lexington, where the motto was always, 'You've got to stand for something, or you'll fall for anything.' I can't walk away from this. I wouldn't have the peace of mind to sleep at night if I did.'"

"Of-quoted anthropologist Margaret Mead once stated, 'Never doubt that a group of thoughtful, committed citizens can change the world; indeed, it's the only thing that ever has.'"

"By their dauntless and courageous efforts on behalf of their fellow citizens, it's evident that Judy Kittery, Pat Pelosi and Susan Sinclair are already doing just that."

"The collection, edited by Stanley D. Klein, Ph.D. and Kim Schive includes 63 personal stories (four written by Massachusetts parents) plus a foreword by former Pennsylvania Governor Richard Thornburgh."

Lightning From S-1

injuries from lightning strikes from 1959 to 1994, and only flash floods and river floods caused more weather-related deaths in the same time period.

When lightning strikes a human, it lasts only a few milliseconds, but the damage can be great. Most of the current passes over the surface of the body, and deep burns appear at the point of contact (usually on the head, neck and shoulders). The individual may also suffer injuries from being thrown due to the force of the strike, and the leading cause of immediate death from a lightning strike is cardiac arrest.

Assuming one survives the initial strike, other problems can arise from being hit by a strike: loss of consciousness/coma, amnesia or anxiety, seizures, brain damage, numbness, spinal cord injury, sleep and memory disorders, and Post Traumatic Stress Disorder, among other ailments.

The most effective treatment following a lightning strike is immediate CPR, followed by emergency medical treatment.

Lightning also causes property damage, with estimates in the United States alone between $4 and $5 billion in lightning costs each year.

What can I do to protect myself and my family?

There are many things you can do to protect yourself from lightning while your enjoying the warm weather this summer.

Unfortunately, there is no such thing as a lightning-proof boat, but you can create a lightning-protected boat. All-metal ships are rarely damaged, because the metal helps the electrical charge to become quickly dissipated in the water. Small boats are usually made of wood or fiberglass, though, which creates a problem. The best lightning protection system for a small boat consists of an air terminal, a main conductor, and a ground plate. The conductor will carry the current to the ground plate, which will help it dissipate into the water. If you are caught in a storm, stay in the center of the cabin. Keep your arms and legs in the boat (don't dangle them in the water). Discontinue all fishing, water skiing, scuba diving, swimming, or other water activities when there is lightning or a chance of lightning forecast.

If you are out and about on the ground during a storm, you should seek shelter when you hear even the faintest clap of thunder. Among the best places to take refuge are in cars or buses (but when in them, don't touch the metal). If you can't get into a safe space, crouch down very low to the ground until there is a break in the storm.

One common misconception is that rubber tires or a foam pad will insulate someone from lightning - it takes about 10,000 volts to create a one inch spark; therefore, a lightning bolt with millions of volts can easily jump 10-20 feet, so it's much safer to be inside a car than simply near the tires.

If a storm does break out and you are caught unaware outdoors, you should avoid water, high ground and open spaces. If someone is injured, that person cannot carry an electrical charge, and can be handled safely. Medical treatment should be acquired as soon as possible.

Dog owners are asked to assist letter carriers

Middlesex East postal officials today called for the cooperation of dog owners in keeping their pets restrained during mail delivery times.

"Last year, 2,721 letter carriers nationwide were attacked and injured by dogs," said Postmaster John M. "Jack" Driscoll, Reading; John P. Meuse, Woburn; Margaret C. Dimock, Winchester; Richard F. Sweeney, Burlington; Donna M. Legro, Wakefield; Michael C. Quinn, Lynnfield; James R. Quinn, Wilmington, and Kathleen M. Goodson, Tewksbury, and Jeffrey P. Roach, officer in charge of North Reading Post Office.

They made their plea for responsible pet ownership as part of National Dog Bite Prevention Week (May 20 to 26) but said it is a year round concern.

Little Brewster is the home of Boston Light - the last manned lighthouse in the United States. After more than 280 years in isolation, the public was allowed onto Little Brewster in 1999. The Island Alliance and JFK Library are two of the many partner organizations that make the trips possible.

A storied pre-Revolutionary nautical outpost, Little Brewster and Boston Light are featured attractions of the Boston Harbor Islands National Park Area. Established in 1996, it is the region's newest national park.

Tours to Little Brewster of up to 32 people occur every Friday, Saturday and Sunday until October 14. This unique trip includes a narrated boat tour through the Boston Harbor Islands National Park Area to one-acre Little Brewster Island.

Tours leave from the JFK Library and Museum at Columbia Point in Dorchester on Fridays and from the Moakley Courthouse at Fan Pier in Boston's Seaport District on Saturdays and Sundays. #### MEN OF COLOR AGAINST AIDS

UNITY PRIDE

JUNE 9 TO JUNE 17

The beauty, talents and strength of Boston's gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgender, GLBT, communities of color are often ignored or exploited. This fact conspires to render an entire community almost invisible, leaving a large group of Boston residents alone in the struggle to create healthier relationships in an age where HIV/AIDS is rampant and rapidly destroying families, communities and lives.

Often when GLBT people of color are asked to participate in events, whether it be with heterosexual counterparts or our mainstream queers friend, it is only to support a predetermined agenda. And, unfortunately, their plans rarely allow for any accountability to the needs of the GLBT people of color. For this reason and many others it is imperative that we create spaces and paths in which to educate and support individuals in the creation of healthy and positive self-images. It is with this in mind that MOCA, Men of Color Against AIDS has taken the lead in creating UNITY PRIDE.

This year, our third, we have developed a week-long series of eleven events that seek to establish a union between culturally appropriate fun filled days and evenings, combined with information regarding the effects of HIV/AIDS on our communities, advocacy and mobilization tactics. All events include outreach material, noted public speakers, and prevention kits.

Please march with us Saturday June 9 in the Boston Gay Pride Parade and get a calendar of all the events. Be a part of the fight against this epidemic. Call 617-442-8020 for more information.

LASER SURGERY

For the same reasons that people choose laser surgery over more traditional operations - less invasive procedures, quicker recovery times, fewer risks - pet owners are now opting for laser surgery for their animals.

With laser surgery, an intense beam of light is the only thing contacting an animal's tissues.

The laser seals small blood vessels and nerve endings as it works, allowing vets to operate with extraordinary precision.

This leads to less pain, less bleeding, less swelling and less need for anesthesia. Pets recover more quickly with fewer side effects.

Laser surgery can be a good option for removing cysts, tumors, warts and infections. It also can be used for procedures such as spays, neuters and thyroid gland removal.

P.S. Discuss the possibility of laser surgery with your pet's veterinarian.

For all types of procedures including spaying, neutering and dentistry, take the time to talk to us at:

Avoid skin cancer

"Ban the Burn" this year

With sunny days around the bend it's time to protect yourself from the dangers of the sun. Did you know that experts predict that the sun causes two thirds of all melanomas, the deadliest form of skin cancer?

Skin cancer is growing at an alarming rate — it is the most common form of cancer in the U.S., accounting for half of all cancers. The American Cancer Society predicts that there will be 51,400 new cases of skin cancer in 2001, a 9% increase from 2000. The incidence of melanoma, the deadliest form of skin cancer, is increasing faster than any other cancer.

The Massachusetts Skin Cancer Prevention Collaborative is launching an educational campaign this summer reminding you and your family to "Ban the Burn" this year. Follow these steps to protect yourself from the burning rays of the sun.

- Reduce direct exposure to the sun, especially between 10 am and 4 pm.
- Wear a broad-brimmed hat, long-sleeved shirt, long pants, and sunglasses
- Use sunscreen lotion with a SPF of a least 15
- Use the daily UV index on your local weather forecast when planning outdoor activities.

Sun damage occurs over time. It is better late than never to start preventing sunburns. Set a good example for your children, start safe sun habits. Remember, have fun but ban the burn!

lion Americans, nearly 13% of the U.S. population, and more than 50% of all people who have migraine have never been diagnosed. For many sufferers, these headaches disrupt their lives and impact their quality of life.

"Over the course of 16 years and at least a dozen physicians, I was continually told the cause of my headaches was 'just nerves,' as opposed to having them properly diagnosed as migraines," said Glenda Shoemaker of Lafayette, Ind., a migraine sufferer and Registered Nurse.

To help headache sufferers recognize the headache they are experiencing may be migraine, the NHF is introducing the 'One-minute Migraine Quiz.'

1. Do you have a throbbing, one-sided headache?
  2. Do you feel sick or vomit with your headache?
  3. Is your headache keeping you from effectively performing your regular activities?
- If headache sufferers respond 'yes' to any of these questions, they may have migraine. The National Headache Foundation encourages sufferers to seek an appropriate diagnosis and treatment plan with their healthcare provider. Recognizing their headache and how it impacts their quality of life are the first steps sufferers take in finding relief from migraine.

For more information about headache causes and treatments or National Headache Awareness Week, visit their web site at www.headaches.org or call 888-NHF-5552 (M-F 8 am to 6 pm CT).

Have a headache? Think migraine

More than 45 million Americans suffer from chronic, recurring headache, more than the 33 million suffers of diabetes, asthma and coronary heart disease combined. Often times, what people think may be a headache from stress, sinus or tension, may be migraine. In fact, migraine is misdiagnosed as tension or sinus headache almost as frequently as it is correctly diagnosed.

As part of its continuing effort to educate the public about the reality and severity of headache, the National Headache Foundation (NHF) has declared June 3-9, as National Headache Awareness Week.

This year's theme 'Headaches? Think Migraine' recognizes that frequently migraine pain is undiagnosed, misdiagnosed, or misread as other types of headache. This theme emphasizes that those experiencing headache should seek diagnosis and treatment from a healthcare provider.

Migraine is a legitimate biological disease affecting 28 mil-

School Notes From role-playing to kids on a 'roll'

Congratulations due in Winchester and Wakefield

The Learning Disabilities Association of Massachusetts (LDAM) recently received an award from the Learning Disabilities Association of America (LDA) for "Portraits of Success: Fostering Hope and Resilience in Individuals with Learning Disabilities," a video produced by Teresa Allissa Citro. LDAM President Maureen Riley of Winchester accepted this award. Michelle Pastore, who appears in the video, is from Wakefield.

LDA is a national, non-profit organization to advance the education and general welfare of children and adults of normal or potentially normal intelligence who manifest disabilities of a perceptual, conceptual, or coordinative nature.

support and cooperation in helping to make this a most successful event."

Your PAC in Reading

If your child receives special education services - from the resource room or the learning center, speech/language therapy, occupational therapy, physical therapy in a special education classroom in Reading, or any other public school, or attends a private school for children with special needs - this PAC is for you.

For more information or to find out how you can be more involved with the Reading Chapter 766 PAC, call Mary Kay Watts (781-944-8024), Patricia Johnston (781-942-9274), or Maureen O'Brien (781-942-0980).

Well 'bread' in Wakefield

"On a crusade to give young people the life-giving skill of home bread baking, the King Arthur Flour Company of Norwich, VT traveled to Galvin Middle School in Wakefield to teach 450 students to bake their own loaves of bread from scratch," notes the Wakefield edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"...Using the flour, yeast and recipes donated by King Arthur Flour, students each baked two loaves of bread at home over the weekend. One loaf was for their own consumption (unless mom or dad got to it first). The other loaf was for a school donation to the elderly citizens and local charities of the community...."

"King Arthur Flour, America's oldest flour company, founded in 1790, has reached more than 45,000 middle school students from the Northeast in what the company calls its Life Skills Bread Baking Program. King Arthur Flour Chairman of the Board Frank Sands believes the program has succeeded because students can see, feel, and then consume what they have learned."

"The students are surprised that bread baking is so easy," said Sands. "They thought it would be a complex and difficult thing, but it is not. Kids find it is a lot of fun, and many of them even get together with their friends to bake the bread."

"Another reason the program has prospered is that the bread baked by the students ultimately helps the hungry in the community. It is not often that the local food pantry has several hundred loaves of fresh baked bread to offer the people it serves."

"The donation of bread is so meaningful to the students because they know they made it with their own hands," said Sands. "Baking bread can become a way of building fellowship. They see that they can nourish others as well as themselves."

If you'd like to read about your favorite school, student or teacher in "School Notes," please send school newsletters and other relevant information to Phyllis Nissen, "School Notes," Middlesex East Supplement, Box 240, Reading, MA 01867. We welcome student writing.

Word from the W.I.S.E. in Tewksbury

"John W. Wynn Middle School sent a delegation of students to UMass-Lowell to participate in the W.I.S.E. program (Women in Science and Engineering)," reports Joanna D. Krainski, Middle School Mathematics Curriculum Coordinator and W.I.S.E. organizer.

"The W.I.S.E. program is sponsored by UMass-Lowell, MEC (Merrimack Education Center) and Northeast P.A.L.M.S. (Partnerships Advancing Learning in Mathematics, Science and Technology). This program is designed to interest middle school girls in new possibilities in the fields of mathematics, science and technology. This year the participants included: Heather Aceto, Jillian Elwell, Carly Riccio, Rima Patel, Gina Policelli, Shaylin Major, Andrea DeMelo, Sheila Rauseo, Lynne Andrews, Kim Perley, Kaitlin McNamara, Katie MacDonald, Stacy Ossinger, Elaine Koustenis, and Kelly Knopf."

"For the first time, 18 participants were offered an opportunity to win a W.I.S.E. scholarship for summer sessions at the Boston Aquarium, Museum of Science, or at the UMass-Lowell campus. We are proud to announce that Kim Perley was given the award, for 'Beneath the Sea,' a two-week day program conducted at the Aquarium that investigates life at various depths in the ocean, investigations of marine animals."

"Another scholarship for 'Extreme Robotics,' a computer programming course focusing on robotics, was awarded to another member of the Wynn School family: our own Gina Policelli. Gina will attend the Engineering Design Camp at UMass-Lowell. All projects and labs are designed to give students a taste of real-world engineering and science."

"We are very proud of the delegation team. Congratulations to Gina Policelli and to Kim Perley for their efforts and excellent achievements."

"A special thanks to Ms. Kris Rogers, sixth grade science teacher and this year's W.I.S.E. chaperone, Mr. Dermody, Mr. Zbieg, Nurse Hopkins, Mrs. O'Brien, and the entire Wynn Middle School staff for their

Decorative ceiling tiles available

Looking for a fresh new way to revitalize an aging room? Look up! Why? Because today's new generation of ceiling tiles offers exciting decorating possibilities that can set your home apart from the rest.

According to Thomas Hills Cook, Director of Interior

Design at Armstrong World Industries, the country's largest manufacturer of residential ceilings, homeowners no longer have to settle for the same plain white ceiling their neighbors have. In fact, he says it is this growing desire to add character and personality to a room that is causing homeowners to focus more on their ceiling now than ever before.

"Homeowners often believe, they have little choice but to live with one vast expanse of drywall ceiling, usually painted an off-white," he states. "As a result, the ceiling becomes the great unclaimed territory, the Alaska of most people's homes."

"Today, however, there's a wide variety of decorative ceiling tiles available that not only add style, pattern and design to a room, but also can be painted to truly make the ceiling part of the overall decor. And, you don't have to be a Michelangelo to accomplish it."

Tiles From S-9

Customizing Ceilings Is A Simple Three-Step Process

Representative of the ceiling choices Cook describes is a 12-inch by 12-inch tile from Armstrong called TinTile. This particular ceiling tile offers the look of a tin ceiling at a fraction of the cost and can be painted any color, including metallic finishes.

According to Cook, customizing a ceiling with ceiling tiles like these is a simple three-step process. First, install TinTile ceiling tiles directly over an existing drywall ceiling using adhesives, wood furring strips, Armstrong Furring Tape, or the metal track and clip system included in Armstrong ceiling tile installation kits. Most ceilings can be installed in a week-end.

Second, apply two coats of paint using a roller with a 1/4" nap, waiting 24 hours between coats. Painting a tile ceiling after it has been installed is preferable. However, if your plans require that you must paint the ceiling tiles before installing them, Cook says be careful not to let the paint drip and accumulate on the side of the tiles. Otherwise, installation can be affected.

Third, if you use a metallic color and want to duplicate the patina that develops on tin ceilings as a result of age, simply mix dark green paint with a pale green paint and randomly dab the tiles with a natural sea sponge. Vary the placement of the paint and texture of the sponge to create an authentic look. The end result: a custom, interior ceiling finish that makes an ordinary room extraordinary.

For additional information on Tin Tile and other ceiling tiles that can be customized, visit www.ceiling.com on the Internet. Or, write to Armstrong Ceilings, P.O. Box 1000, Plymouth, MI 48170 or call 1-800-233-3823, and ask for a free copy of "Ceiling Solutions For Your Home."
